Legion Head In New Fight For Bonus

CALLS FOR AID FROM SOLONS

Quinn Claims Cut In Tax-

CALLS FOR PASSAGE OF LEGION MEASURE

Declares Average Yearly Cost to Country Less Than $88,000,000

(By United Press Leased Wire)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 11.— Seventy-five per cent of the tax reduction proposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon can be made effective and at the same time the adjusted compensation bill endorsed by the American Legion can be passed, National Commander John R. Quinn declared today in a letter to all senators and representatives urging passage of the compensation bill.

"The Mellon tax reduction proposals are approximately four times as large as the average yearly cost of the war," he said.

"The proposed reductions would total about $323,000,000 annually.
The senate finance committee report on the adjusted compensation bill reveals that the average yearly cost for the first three years would be $80,000,000 and that the average yearly cost for its entire life is less than $88,000,000.

"An almost concerted effort has been made by opponents of the soldiers' measure to make it appear that tax reduction cannot be made effective if an adjusted compensation law is passed.

"The truth is coming to light and it is now being realized that both measures can be enacted at the same time."

Quinn called on administration leaders to make good the republican party platform endorsement of the principle of adjusted compensation.

The bill sponsored by the Legion would give the former service man an option of land and home settlement aid, vocational education, an adjusted service certificate or cash payment of sums of $50 or less.

Shaughnessy Funeral Is Set For Thursday

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 11.—
The funeral of Lord Thomas Shaughnessy, 71, one of Canada's greatest railroad builders, who died suddenly at his home here last night, will be held Thursday at 10
a. m.

Lord Shaughnessy was formerly president of the Canadian Pacific railway and was a leading figure in its early history.

KANSAS CONVICTS WOUND TRUSTY IN MIDNIGHT ESCAPE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LANING, Kansas, Dec. 11.—Four convicts made a dramatic escape from the Kansas state prison here early today—the second group to gain their freedom from the prison within a week.

One man was wounded attempting to prevent the escape and a fifth prisoner trying to make his getaway was shot down as he scaled the prison wall.

Shortly before midnight, Charles Kavanaugh, convict with a long record, rang for Edward Stewart, the trusty in charge of the row of cells at night, and told him there was a leak from a water pipe. Stewart unlocked the cell door to investigate and Kavanaugh's cellmate, John Stitzel, leveled a revolver which apparently had been smuggled in, at him.

The two prisoners took Stewart's keys, locked him in the cell; held up Frank Henderson, a guard, and obtained additional keys, then locked Henderson with Stewart.
After unlocking the cells of Briz-zille Pratt, Celon Ritcherson and Walter Geary, the five rushed to the power house.

Alec Smith, a trusty life term, who showed great heroism in his efforts to prevent the escape, was working in the power house. The men ordered him to cut the prison wires. He refused. They then attempted to throw a switch, turning off all prison lights. Smith stepped in their way. Richardson shot Smith in the side, seriously wounding him.

The men then threw the switch, turning off the current, obtained a ladder from a locker and made their way toward the prison wall.
As the ladder was placed against the barricade the lights were fashed on.

Guards swept the wall with a hall of bullets from high-powered rifles as the five reached the top of the wall and leaped to the ground, thirty-five feet below. As Kavanaugh leaped he was struck in the foot by a bullet and captured.

DEATH TAKES FAMOUS FOE OF CRIME

Sudden Illness Fatal to William Pinkerton During Coast Vacation

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—William A. Pinkerton, 78, head of the Pinkerton Detective agency, of New York City, died at the Biltmore hotel here today, where he had been making his headquarters during his annual vacation on the coast.

Pinkerton was taken suddenly ill last night. Hotel physicians were called by his secretary, J. R. Black, but his death came suddenly this morning. His nephew, Allan Pinkerton, was with him when he died.

Pinkerton often boasted of the fact that he had never been ill a day in his life. For the past six weeks he had motored up and down the coast and was apparently in the best of health. Yesterday he complained of a slight cold, but was around the lobby of the hotel until a late hour last night.

Shortly before his death this morning, he called his secretary, nephew and the hotel physician.
He complained of being "suffocated," and died within a few minutes, without being able to talk further with those about him.

He had been a widower for 30 years. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. William Pullman and Mrs. Joseph Watkins, of Chicago, and two sisters, residents of this city.

The body will be shipped to Chicago for interment, where services will be held Saturday. Burial will occur in Graceland cemetery, in that city.

As head of the Pinkerton Detective agency, with offices scattered all over the globe, William A. Pinkerton was one of the nation's leading men in criminal detection. The firm was established by his father 73 years ago.

Pinkerton himself was born into the work. With his brother, Robert assisting him, he conducted and expanded the agency until his brother's death in 1907, when a nephew, Allan Pinkerton, was taken into the firm.

Pinkerton was a heavy-set man, and walked with a slight halt. His hair and moustache were grizzled, and he looked out from eyes with drooping lids which concealed the penetrating gaze behind.

He bore a distinguished air, talked in an abrupt manner, and, despite the vigorous nature of his business, was personally kindly and possessed many friends.

DEATH CLAIMS T. J. HARLIN, PIONEER

T. J. Harlin, 85, pioneer business man and farmer of Santa Ana, died last night at the Orange county hospital, following a brief illness with pneumonia.

Born in Tennessee, June 6, 1837,
Mr. Harlin came to California in 1869, and to Santa Ana in 1870. He was accompanied to the state by his wife and two sons, Al and Gee.
Other children of the family were born in Santa Ana.

Immediately following his arrival in Santa Ana he opened a grocery at the southeast corner of Fourth and Sycamore streets, now the site of a building occupied by a dry goods store.

At the same time he was the owner of a twenty-acre tract on East Fourth street, between the business center of the city and the Santa Fe station. The property extended from Fourth to First streets, and west from Garfield street to a point near the present freight yards of the Pacific Electric company. The acreage at one time was offered to the city as public park at a consideration which was a mere song as compared with the value of the property today.

Mr. Harlin was a member of the city council for a long period in the early days of the city, and was a member of the board of education responsible for erection of the school house recently wrecked to make room for the new Y. M. C.
A. building.

While not active here in recent years, Mr. Harlin was known to a large number of residents.
He is survived by his sons,
Thomas, Santa Ana; Jeff, Downey; Al, Calexico; and Gee, Independence, Cal., and daughter, Mrs.
Madge Conway, of Iowa.

Funeral services will be held at Smith and Tutill's undertaking parlors tomorrow at 10 a. m.

ALLIES CALL ON AMERICA FOR HELP

Coolidge Reveals Plan For Participation In Parley
On Germany

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The United States has accepted the invitation of the reparations commission for private American financial experts to take part in an inquiry into Germany's financial condition, President Coolidge announced today.

The president read a formal statement to this effect to Washington newspapermen assembled at the White House.

In view of the fact that the United States is an important creditor of both Germany and the allies and the importance of the economic reconstruction of Europe, the American government "would view with favor" acceptance by American private financial experts of the invitation from the reparations commission, the statement said.

Great Britain and Germany both have approached this government, expressing their desire to have Americans participate, the White House stated.

This government will not participate as a government, Mr. Coolidge stated.

The American experts will be invited to take part by direct invitation from the reparations commission, Mr. Coolidge said.

It was also pointed out, informally, on behalf of the president, that the United States had claims against Germany amounting to approximately $750,000,000 and also because of the great allied war debt to this country that the United States government had the interest of a great creditor in Germany's financial situation and the reconstruction of Europe.

AVER CRASH ENDED WIFE'S INCOME BY WASHING; ASK SUM

Damages based partly on the claim that his wife's injuries prevented her from taking in washings, were asked today by George Barnhill, who appeared as plaintiff with Mrs. Barnhill in a suit for $22,850 against the Excelsior Creamery company and one of its drivers, named as "John Doe."

The Barnhills alleged that their automobile was struck by a truck belonging to the creamery company November 4, at the intersection of Chestnut and Maple streets, this city. The accident, they asserted, resulted in injuries to Mrs.
Barnhill, and was caused, they claimed, by negligence of the truck driver.

The complaint charged up $20,- 000 for Mrs. Barnhill's injuries, $225 to medical expenses, $125 to cover her asserted losses from inability to take in washings, and $1,500, claimed by Barnhill on account of his being deprived of his wife's services.

The suit was filed in the superior court here, through Attorneys Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus.

Kellogg Nomination Gets Senate Support

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—By a vote of 75 to 9 the senate today in executive session passed favorably upon the nomination of former Sen-

Rescue Ten Sailors Periled in Accident

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 11.—
Sailors of the destroyer flagship Melville saved ten men from probable drowning here when a motor sailor in which they were passengers was almost cut in two and sunk by a fast shore boat.

Melville sailors went to the rescue when they heard the crash of the collision about 100 yards from their ship in the dark last night.

The motor sailor was from the destroyer Doyen.

Stanford Head Bars Klan From Campus

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Dec. 11.—The Ku Klux Klan today was barred from the Stanford campus by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of the university.

Dr. Wilbur's action followed issuance of a signed statement by Robert Burnett of El Paso, a graduate engineering student, inviting students to join a Stanford unit of the Klan.

"Any organization of the Klan on the campus which uses the name of the university or purports to be part of the university through its membership will find itself in trouble with university authorities," Dr. Wilbur announced.

COOLIDGE TO LET FRIENDS RUN AFFAIRS

Participation In Primary Battles
Up to Administration Leaders In Each State.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.— Decision as to whether President Coolidge will enter the presidential primaries in California and other states will be left entirely to those in charge of the Coolidge campaign in each state, it was said at the White House today.

This statement was in reply to conflicting reports concerning Mr. Coolidge's intentions regarding the primaries in California, Senator Hiram Johnson's home state.

MEXICO REVOLT SPREADS OVER LARGE ZONE

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 11.—Revolutionary forces under General Sanchez, which have engaged federal troops in indecisive combat for three days at Jalapa, capital of Veracruz, were reported today to be extending the scope of their operations.

The rebellion in Vera Cruz appeared to be proving more difficult to put down than had been anticipated.

After capturing Jalapa, then losing it to Federals, a strong insurrectionist force attacked repeatedly and the tide of battle was swinging uncertainly when last reports were received.

President Obregon has arrived at Irapuato where Federal cavalry is being concentrated for a drive to crush the rebels under General Estrada at Jalisco.

Obregon is reported to have sent his close friend and adviser, Ramon Ross, a member of the recent recognition conference, on an "urgent" official mission to the United States.

With the rebellion proving more serious than at first feared food prices have mounted so rapidly in Mexico City that demand for a food dictator has arisen. The Mexican Federation of Labor prepared to take action against the profit-teers.

SENATE RECEIVES P. S. TREATY WITH MEXICO

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—President Coolidge today sent to the senate the treaty with Mexico.

This treaty carries out details of the recognition agreement recently entered into.

The fighting in Mexico will not cause the United States government to postpone ratification of the treaty, it was said at the White House today.

announcement today. Many prominent local citizens, supporters of the senior Senator's candidacy, have signed the organization call.

Survey Shows Southland Groves Unhurt as Cold Snap Hits State

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—
Citrus groves of Southern California have passed through the first cold spell of the season undamaged by lowered temperatures, according to a compilation of reports from various sections today.

While Central California groves were damaged by the frosts of the past two nights, injury to crops in this section was confined to wind damage, which will not run high. The gale that raged over the weekend, had subsided today, and warmer weather will prevail tonight, the weather bureau reported.

Smudging saved the citrus crop in the Ventura section, it was believed. The temperature descended to the freezing point but none of the fruit was damaged.

Santa Barbara reported 38 degrees Sunday night, the lowest temperature this year while last night the mercury only dropped to 43.

HERO LOST IN SEARCH FOR BOYS

Two Men Brave Sierra Madre Brush Fire In Hunt For Sons

YOUTHS RETURN AS KIN FACING PERIL

Huge Party of Rescuers Comb Vast District In Hunt For Men

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, head of the National Anti-Narcotic league, and Captain Jesse Hunter, investigator for the district attorney's office, were reported lost in the Sierra Madre mountains today.
All available deputy sheriffs, forest rangers and fire wardens have been ordered to search for them.

The two men left the city yesterday, with full packing outfits, in search for their two sons, Richmond jr., and James Hunter, who were thought trapped in a forest fire which has been raging for several days.

The boys, exhausted and bleeding, reached the foothills last night, but their fathers are feared surrounded by the same blaze.

The two men separated in the search yesterday, Hobson going up one canyon and Hunter another.
They were planning to climb the intervening hills, meet and return to the city last night.

Both the Hobson and Hunter boys were injured in their efforts to descend from the mountains.
Their clothing was tattered, and they had no food for 24 hours.
Each was badly cut. They had covered 50 miles on foot through a blinding sandstorm.

Hobson was an outstanding figure in the Spanish-American war.
He took the collier Merrimack into Santiago harbor, where he sank it in an effort to block the passage and bottle up the Spanish fleet.
For this effort he was decorated and promoted.

During recent years he has been active in anti-saloon league work, speaking throughout the country.
Lately he took up the narcotic drive, and is now campaigning against that evil.

Aided by a sudden lull in the wind which blew through the night, the flames which threatened Sunset canyon summer homes and the Sunset canyon country club's luxurious structure, were believed under control today.

Latest reports from the scene of the blaze carried the information that the fire was subsiding, and appeared unlikely to jump the one firebreak still remaining between the flames and the canyon settlement.

Several hundred fighters were still standing by, stamping out the remaining embers as fast as the main blaze was decreased, and endeavoring to prevent a possible recurrence of the danger.

Homor Davis, Burbank fire chief, and Lee Owen of the Burbank police force, were being treated today for severe burns suffered while rescuing 16 Mexican families trapped in Slough canyon.

Painter Perishes As Blaze Destroys Home

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—A. E.
Jacobs, painter, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed his home here today. Jacobs' charred body was found in the ashes of the structure after the blaze had subsided. It was believed the fire started from spontaneous combustion of a quantity of paint
Jacobs had stored in the house.

Deputy County Jailor Joe Irvine received a visit today from his brother, Sergeant Paul Irvine, of the United States marine corps, stationed at San Diego. The Irvine brothers are both jailors, Sergeant Irvine being in charge of the marine prison at San Diego.

Markel and Son, local builders, have awarded the contract to build two modern, reinforced concrete comfort stations at Newport Beach. It was learned here today. One will be constructed on the location of the present building at Balboa and will cost $7500. The other station will be built at East Newport at a cost of $2500. The contract was awarded after bids had been advertised twice. Markels was the only bid opened by the Newport Beach city council last night.

Announcement was made here today by J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, that seats for the New Years football game at Pasadena could be reserved through his office.

A letter asking the co-operation of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce with a Los Angeles travel bureau in the forming of a party to our Mexico was received by J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber, today. This party will leave Los Angeles January 13 and will visit numerous points of interest in Mexico, returning to Los Angeles February 3.

The state highway commission at Sacramento today had under advisement sixteen bids for rebuilding 16.2 miles of state highway between San Diego and Oceanside, it became known here today. John and Bressi, of Los Angeles, were the low bidders, their offer for the work being $436,045. It was below the engineer's estimate, which was $526,145. The highway is to be widened from sixteen to twenty feet, with a top slab to be laid over the old work and the additional width constructed the same thickness as the rebuilt work. The contract may be awarded next Monday or Tuesday, it was said.

KFAW was forced to cancel last night's program when aerials on the roof of The Register building were damaged by the recent heavy winds. Repairs are being made and it is expected that KFAW will be in position to broadcast Thursday night, from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock, when a good orchestral program will be given by "The Villagers."

Postponement of a picnic of South Dakota folk in Southern California from last Saturday to the coming Saturday, due to excessive wind, was learned here today. E. L. Abel, former lieutenant governor, will preside at the affair, which is to be held at Bixby park, Long Beach.

According to information received here from Long Beach, preparations are being made for deepening Los Alamitos bay. Two dredges are to be engaged in the work. They were scheduled to be floated into the bay today.

J. N. Potter, father of Mrs. G. L. Wilbur, this city, died Sunday at Albany, N. Y. It became known here today. Mr. Potter was known here, where he had spent a number of winters at the home of his daughter. He had been ill for many months. Mrs. Wilbur was with him for several months assisting in his care, and returned to her home here only a short time ago.

Indications today pointed to a large attendance of members at the meeting tonight of the Men's Brotherhood of the First Baptist church, according to the Rev. Otto S. Russell, pastor. The meeting will be held in the basement of the church, with a 6:30 o'clock dinner preceding. D. K. Hammond, principal of the Santa Ana high school, and dean of junior college, will speak on "Citizenship."

PLAYERS WIN NEW FAME AS 'R. U. R.' SENSATIONAL

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

Is the average theater goer in tunity to relax, as little ripples Santa Ana of sufficient broad of amusement followed her charmental caliber to enjoy the work acerbicstic railing against condof so sophisticated a dramatist, so tions.

In the epilogue, which offered its ray of hope for the perpetuation of human beings upon a deCommunity Players have been asking themselves the past few weeks—a question which was enthusiastically answered in the affirmative last night, when a representative crowd gathered at the Temple theater for the premier performance of "R. U. R." by the Players.

The play really marked a new epoch in Santa Ana Community Players' history. Success has followed success in the three years since the organization's founding. An infinite variety of plays has given pleasure to large audiences, from the allegorical "Servant in the House," rollicking "Potch the Perimeter," and sprightly "Good Gracious Annabelle," to the recent successful mystery play "The Thirteenth Chair."

But with "R. U. R." was introduced a new theme, the cleverest satire of the decade, phrased in terms of a shilling shocker—a true "meller-drammer" of the old school.

Last night's crowd at the Temple theater was a highly critical one, albeit keenly, quietly appreciative of the fine points of the acting. A glance over the auditorium revealed the fact that the city's readers, thinkers and teachers had availed themselves of the opportunity to see the Czechoslovakians study of human life and human nature.

A queer tale of affairs was apparent; those who came to think remained to be entertained; while those who came to be entertained remained to think, thus re-establishing the balance.

Playing the masculine lead of Harry Domin, general manager of Rossum's Universal Robots, had Griggs, verified every prophecy made by those who had watched his work at rehearsals. Clever, polished, with an undercurrent of humor, he invested the role with a most life-like quality. He was very fine in his emotional scenes in which he never showed the least inclination to overdo.

Playing opposite him, Gladys Simpson Shafer, lovely and blonde, was wonderfully appealing as Helena Glory, a type far different from anything Mrs. Shafer has attempted here. Far from as sympathetic as the parts usually played by her, the role was given a charm and sweetness that proved delightful.

The little group of scientific men with whom Fate placed her to live for the final ten years of man's supremacy on earth, offered characterizations by those whose names stand for excellent and consistent acting.

Harry Brackett, H. B. Van Dien, Don Hopkins, Arthur Collins and Ray Simpson formed the group and each enacted his part in a remarkable manner. Harry Brackett rose to emotional heights in several of his scenes, which held his audience tense—yet there was never a false move. Brackett has made himself a decided factor in Community Players' affairs, and has shown a remarkable ability for handling emotional scenes.

Like Griggs his voice and enunciation give joy to his hearers. Case in point: "I was never so proud of anyone in my life!"

Musical numbers played ere the curtain's rise and between acts included violin numbers by Olli-mae Enlow Matthews, trombone solos by Prof. C. D. Clancian and harp selections by Miss Ruth Oaks, amateur. As Dr. Gall, he was all that a suave, scientific medical man should be, again Arthur Collins was by no means a Santa Ana business man whom one might meet every day of the week in ordinary business transactions—he was the keenly observant scientist, at the head of a psychological institute.

A complete naturalness marked the work of Don Hopkins as "Fabry," his knowledge of stage technique and character acting showing itself in the deft smoothness with which he played the part.

And, finally, of the little group of scientists and workers controlling the Robot output, Roy Simpson, as "Busman," the genial manager, was a true picture of the very aggressive, very American business man.

To my mind, two of the notable lights of the evening were widely separated scenes, in which Griggs as "Domin" drops into a mechanical little description of the manufacture of Robots to "Helena Glory," and again, in the final act, when "Busman" tells in an oratorical manner just what he shall say to the uprising Robots in demanding freedom and protection for the small group of human survivors in the world.

Each speech was given with the most delightful woodenness—just as we all give anything learned by rote, and had the effect of emphasizing the extreme naturalness of the manner in which the play was produced.

Little Comedy Added Small in comparison to roles he has essayed, but important, was the part played by R. R. Miller as "Radium," a Robot. The struggles of his awakening soul were plainly apparent to the onlooker. In fact, the Robots were made unusually interesting from the opening scene, when Juanita Wright Fletcher as "Sulla," manager to banish every vestige of expression from her unusually mobile face to play the part of the pretty typist. Don Fletcher as "Marius," was excellent in the idea of mechanical perfection he was able to convey.

Offering the only true comedy relief, Estelle Card Beeman, as "Nana," a human servant, proved her fitness for character bits and by her earnest disapproval of the new order of things, gave taut nerves in the audience an oppor-

Nothing Succeeds Like a Gift at the Right Time

SANTA CLAUS

I am the spirit of Christmas giving:
Centuries old, my life is renewed each year.
As long as men live I live.
Men may war, confound, abuse yet the animal spirit flees at my touch.
I brighten the dark heart, thaw the frozen memory, reconcile the parted and cheer the lonely.
Tho' poor and far away, I seek the hovel;
The palace calls me.
I am happiest in the home,
A child's voice plays the only harmony I hope to hear in heaven.

SOCIETY

D. A. R.

Daughters of the American Revolution held their December meeting Saturday afternoon with Mrs.
Leonard G. Swales at her home on North Broadway. They had as their special guests the winners in the annual patriotic essay contest and the sons and daughters of chapter members.

After the business of the day was disposed of Mrs. John Clarkson spoke briefly on flag etiquette explaining particularly the change in the wording of the national salute, the use of a flag on a platform, and the rule against draping the flag.

Mrs. Hatch, the regent, then turned the meeting over to Miss Mabel Whiting who, as chairman of the patriotic education committee, conducted the essay contest.
Especially designed pins are presented annually to the winners, an idea which originated with Mrs.
Swales. This added this year to the list of students having the honor of wearing these are as follows:
First prize at high school won by Mary McFadden, subject, "The Relations Between the United States and the Latin American Republics;" second prize, Kate Benton, subject, "Qualities of World Leadership;" honorable mention to Dorothy Clarkson and Robert O'Brien.

First prize at junior high school won by Helen O'Brien, subject,
"The Ideal American Citizen;" second prize, Virginia Vian, subject
"The Ideal American Citizen;" seeondable mention to Grace Blackmore and Justine Palmer. The reading of the essays was greatly enjoyed as they showed the result of much study and thought and were very well written.

The second part of the program consisted of a reading, "Independence," by Herbert Sammis, and piano numbers as follows:
"The Birdling" (Grieg) by Annabelle McFadden; "Minuet" (Grieg)
by Emmeline Swales;
"Waltz" (Chopin) by Edith Mc-Fadden; McDowell's "From an Indian Lodge" and "To a Wild Rose," by Marie Smith, and Scholl's "Caprice Militaire" by Robert North cross.

After the meeting delicious refreshments were served during the social hour by the hostesses Mrs.
Swales, Mrs. Robert Northcross,
Mrs. J. H. Metzgar, Mrs. Herbert
M. Sammis, Mrs. A. W. Rutan, and Mrs. A. J. McFadden.

Woman's Union

A postponed meeting of the Woman's Union of the Congregational church will be held in the church parlors tomorrow, December 12 beginning at 10 o'clock. A report of the bazaar held last Wednesday will be given and there will be the annual election of officers.

At noon a pot luck luncheon will be served by Mesdames Etch-ison, Gohb, Gorton, Hales and Hayes at hostess committee.

At 2 o'clock the Missionary department will present a short program. Among other good things Mrs. Mozley will give a talk on the Schauffler Home. Mrs. W. G. Knox, who has charge of the music has secured Mr. Fred Rowland, who will give a vocal solo, Mr. Russell Rowland, who will play a piano solo, and Mr. Hicks, who will offer a solo on the cornet accompanied by Russell Rowland upon the piano.
There will be the annual report of the members of the executive committee. Both morning and afternoon sessions will be interesting and important to all the ladies of the church who are urged to be present.

Parent-Teachers

ROOSEVELT.

Thursday and Friday nights of this week there will be an innovation in the vaudeville offering which accompanies the film presentation at the Yost theater, when sixty-four little people from Roosevelt school will present a "Mother Goose Revue" between the first and second shows of the evening.

The youngsters have had a happy time preparing for the Christmas offering under the direction of two of the teachers, Miss Esther Jean Davis and Miss Gladys Campbell.
Some of the music has been composed by the directors as special features of attraction and it is hoped a large crowd of interested parents and friends will be present both nights to reward the efforts of the children.

JOHN MUIR.

Fathers will be present in all their glory at tonight's session of the John Muir P.T. A. when Fathers' night will be celebrated with a special program.

J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools, will be one of the principal speakers, Miss Husher will read and Mrs. Everett White will give vocal numbers. Miss Stella Anderson, one of the teachers, will offer whistling solos and the children of the fifth grade will demonstrate their work in arithmetic. A candy sale is expected to prove a highly popular feature.

JEFFERSON

Children of Jefferson school are preparing a program including a Christmas pageant to be given at the building Thursday evening, December 13 at 7 o'clock. A good program is being prepared and a nominal fee will be charged. Candy will be on sale by the P.T. A.

Shiloh Circle

Thursday, December 13, a full attendance of members of Shiloh Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., is expected to be at G. A. R. hall to welcome the department president, Mrs. Mary E. Copping of Pasadena upon the occasion of her first visit, and the department secretary, Mrs.
Clara M. N. Sawyer of Los Angeles, who is also assistant inspector.

A pot-luck dinner will be featured at noon and in the afternoon will come the inspection and also annual election of officers.

Christmas Gifts

FROM ODDS AND ENDS.
If you can knit or crochet, you probably have many odds and ends of wool in your sewing basket that you can utilize for Christmas gifts.

Wool tassels are seen on some of the smartest frocks this season and are made by winding wool over a square or any-shaped piece of cardboard, in the manner shown in the sketch. Long fringe is added on the under side and the ends shaped, or left straight, as you desire.

These may be made of just two colors of wool, or of any number.
Crocheted flowers are also popular for corsage bouquets and hat trimmings as well as for ornaments or sofa cushions, table covers or curtains.

Aid Society

RICHLAND AVENUE.
Members of the first division of the Ladies' Aid society of Richland avenue church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the pastor's wife Mrs. H. G. Burgess, 50 South Ross street.

Betrothals Weddings Receptions

Beautiful Ceremonies Attendant Upon Star Installation

Brilliant in every detail was the installation of officers of Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S. which attracted a large crowd of Eastern Star and Masonic friends to the chapter rooms in the Masonic temple last night.

When the rooms were thrown open to guests following the brief opening exercises for members alone, a cordial welcome was expressed by James T. Carter, senior past patron of the chapter, followed by the entry of Mrs. Carter, retiring worthy matron, who, escorted to her station in the East, as installing officer, carried a beautiful cluster of flowers, the gift of Mrs. W. V. Whitson, retiring matron of Hermosa chapter, older sister to the Santa Ana chapter.

Accompanying her was the retiring patron, Mrs. Hoffman and they were introduced by Mr. Carter to the new officers. Mrs. Euphemia Buck, installing chaplain; Mrs. Irene Wiley, installing marshal; and Ethel Troxell Thompson, organist. Mrs. Buck and Mrs. Wiley then escorted the 1924 officers into the room, forming a beautiful picture as each one was crowned in white, ranging from brilliant sequin trimmed gowns to satin and lace. Arm bouquets of pink roses heightened the artistic effect, while Mrs. Louise Grouard Mock, the new worthy matron, crowned in white satin maitresse, bore red rosebuds presented by Mr. Carter, and the five Star points each carried flowers in the tint of her respective point.

A beautiful musical program accompanied the impressive installation. Carrie Jacobs Bond's "Perfect Day" sung by Herschel Clayton, marking the installation of Mrs. Mock which was followed by the chaplain's invocation and the "Rosary" played by a trio composed of Mrs. Beatrice Le Blanc, Mrs. Nina Staples and Mrs. Thompson. In installing the worthy patron, William R. Sylvester, a charming personal touch was given by the solo, "I've Been Wondering" sung by his daughter, Mrs. Helen Johnson. Mrs. Johnson also sang "Star of the East" as the five Star points knelt at the altar under the bright gleaming rays. Rising, each carried a rope of fern back to her seat where it was secured with beautiful effect.

The new flag bearer, Mrs. Leah Horton with her flag was escorted to the east after which dainty little Charlotte Louise Mock, small blonde daughter of the newly installed matron, lifted from officer to officer bearing a gift of flowers. Handsome jewels of the order were presented to Mrs. Carter and Mr. Hoffman by Mrs. Mock on behalf of the chapter after which highly appreciative talks were given by Mrs. Emma Trueblood, deputy grand matron and Mrs. Mabel Rowland, recently installed matron of Hermosa chapter.

A delightful surprise was the presentation of Mr. and Mrs. Carter to the chapter of which Mr. Carter was first worthy patron and Mrs. Carter, second worthy matron. The case, heavily silver plated and with sterling silver mountings, bore a beautiful star engraved as follows: "Presented to Santa Ana Chapter, No. 339, O. E. S., December 10, 1923, by James T. Carter, worthy patron, 1922 and Caroline R. Carter, worthy matron, 1923." It was designed by Charles Kaufman, Santa Ana member and formed a truly fitting receptacle for the charter.

Other beautiful gifts were bestowed in the dining room where sterling silver mounted crystal bud vases each holding a single perfect red rose, marked the place of every officer both of 1923 and 1924 as a token of the affection of the retiring matron, Mrs. Carter. While to her as a gift from her patron, Mr. Hoffman, was presented a sterling silver Star receipt case mounted upon a gray silken cord and bearing the insignia of the order.

The delectable refreshments were enjoyed to the accompaniment of a cornet solo by Edwin Day and vocal solos by Herschel Clayton while brief but clever little talks from E. B. Trago, Mrs. Carter and Mr. Hoffman were enjoyed. The new officers for the chapter for 1924 will be led by Mrs. Mock, who, not content with being a Native Daughter, goes one step farther and is able to say proudly that she is a Native Daughter of Santa Ana as well. Prominent in club and social life of the city, she was an enthusiastic member of Hermosa chapter O. E. S., later joining the little group who sought a charter for the new chapter when the rapidly increasing growth of Stardom in the city made a second one advisable. The honor of the worthy patronship seldom comes to so young a woman but Mrs. Mock's personality and charming dignity will make her a fit successor to Mrs. Carter whose official year has been a most pleasant one.

With Mrs. Mock will be associated W. R. Sylvester, prominent Mason and local business man as patron and the following officers: Associate matron, Ada C. Walters; secretary, Lettie Stowe; treasurer, Maud Swarthout; conductress, Elizabeth Jernigan; assistant conductress, Florence Wright; chaplain, Nellie Young; marshal, Irene Wiley; organist, Emogene Reif; Ada, Elizabeth Kloess; Ruth, Eu-

Christmas at Kearney To Be Brightened By Legion Auxiliary

Down at Camp Kearney where heroes of the World War are struggling for a semblance of health, Christmas is going to be brightened if members of the local American legion auxiliary can aid in any manner.

Original plans of Auxiliary members were to drive to Kearney this coming weekend and give a Christmas entertainment when more substantial gifts would be distributed as well. Various entertainers of the city were to accompany the party and present the program. But upon investigation, Mrs. Clyde Whitney discovered that Tuesday and Friday were the only visiting days, so the plan had to be abandoned.

Instead the auxiliary members will send their donations and on Thursday night at 7:30 will meet at the Whitney home, 209 East Twentieth street, to pack a box. Contributions of glazed fruits, fresh oranges and apples, all kinds of nuts and kindred delicacies are asked. Some may prefer to send new books or magazines while cigarettes will never be amiss.

Again there are those to whom money would be the most acceptable gift—men in Kearney often have the added burden of worry over the financial straits of their little families. Money would mean more than the cheer of a Christmas gift, it would buy necessities for a struggling wife or needy little children. That those wishing to make money donations may be assured of their gift reaching the proper people, they are informed that every care is exerted to distribute such gifts where they are most needed.

Such Christmas giving is not confined to the auxiliary members; for many interested outsiders are glad to be able to do their bit and everyone wishing to join in sending Christmas cheer where it is so badly needed may get in communication with Mrs. Whitney.

Final plans will be made to-night at an executive board meeting at Legion hall at 7:30 o'clock.

Friendship Renewed During Brief Stay

Among pleasant guests in the city today are Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Gould of Alhambra who are taking the opportunity to renew old friendships through Mr. Gould's being called to the city as attorney in a case now being tried in the local courts.

The Goulds were luncheon guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Hoff, 412 West Washington street, and were to return to their Alhambra home this evening.

Business Girls Lapse Cares of Day For Evening of Fun

Three hours of pure and unadulterated fun was the record made by the members of the Business and Professional Women's club at their Christmas costume party last evening, when the president, Miss Doris Robbins, was the charming hostess, assisted by her "most charmingest" mother, Mrs. O. M. Robbins, at their home, 930 Lacy street.

The spacious rooms were bright and cheery, and the howling wind and chilly atmosphere of the outer world were entirely forgotten by the happy group indoors. The girls were met at the door by the hostess in costume of yesteryear, with flowing skirt and black lace fichu, her demure style of the colonial period.

The first "man" on the scene was Santa Claus, and the utter silence he persisted in maintaining precluded all idea of learning his identity, until the characteristic shrug of the shoulder proclaimed "him" to be Miss Martha Whitson. Another identity difficult to fathom was Miss Elizabeth Perkins in a marvelous gown of the 1878 period with its long train and bustle effect. Her hair was done in the tight little cork screw curl style.

Mrs. Sallie Henderson was charming in a gown of the Civil war period. It was of pink silk and was worn by Mrs. "Judge" Whitson, of this city, when she was introduced to her first husband in the chivalrous days of the south. Suffice it to say that Mrs. Henderson wore the gown with great dignity. (Aside—it was very tight.) Miss Teresa McDonough wore a beautiful Chinese gown, much admired. Mrs. Olive Lopez and Miss Lena Thomas also were in Chinese dress, and Miss Beth Phillips and Mrs. Mary E. Wright were attired in lovely Japanese kimonos.

The Misses Harriet Whidden and Alice Board presented Jack and Jill, the only tragedy of the evening occurring when Jack tried to kiss little Miss Nancy Marshall, the Christmas tree girl, under the mistletoe. One of the beaux of the evening was Miss Loraine French as a faro hand, with a supply of cigarettes, tobacco and matches among the many things in the capacious pockets of her overalls. Miss Mayme Brightwell, Miss Mabel Mc.adden and Miss Hannah Marston wore cute little Dolly Varden costumes and the Misses Roberta Briggs, Esther Carr and Verdelie Breckenridge, were stunning in Yama Yama costumes. Miss Martha Briggs made a charming gypsy and Miss Genevieve Humiston was a bewitching harem girl. The efficient secretary, Mrs. Helen Stedman, was a dashing bubble maiden, and Miss Helen Kubitz, in gauzy gown, represented a Columbine. Mrs. Jenkins, of Oklahoma City, was a guest of the club, and enjoyed the evening's hilarity.

Much diversion was obtained by matching up parts of postcards and by "stunts" pulled off by the various groups, the prize being unanimously awarded to Miss Martha Whitson, who rode a carpet sweeper in "Paul Revere's Ride." The "wild bells" were also clever. Miss Robbins' amazing little dance, an innovation, and every guest took home the pattern and hereafter there will be "a little dancer in the homes." Each girl

Santa Anans Enjoy A Reunion With Old Friends

Motoring over to Pomona last week to enjoy the day with Mrs. Emma Lorbeer of that city, Mr. and Mrs. Harwood Sharp and Mrs. Bradley of Santa Ana had the pleasure of greeting a group of family friends who chanced to drop in at the Lorbeer home during the afternoon.

The hostess, a member of a sister trio famous in the "Lorbeer clan," a prominent Pomona family, had entertained over the Thanksgiving holiday, the other two members of the tribe, formerly well known as the "Little Wick Sisters" and now Mrs. Aurelia Lorbeer and Mrs. Sarah Bowen together with Mrs. Emma Lorbeer, the hostess.

The family was originally from Humboldt, Iowa and callers on the day the Santa Anans were present included representatives of Humboldt families, Mrs. C. A. Lorbeer and her daughter, Mrs. Harry Tremaine of Los Angeles, Miss Evelyn Lorbeer, Mrs. R. E. Fox (formerly Miss Ethel Ward) and Everett Parker.

W. C. T. U.

Thursday afternoon, December 13, at 2:30 o'clock, the Tustin W. C. T. U. will meet at the Presbyterian manse with Mrs. W. S. MacDougall when the study subjects will be the "Union Signal," the W. C. T. U. publication, and the Southern California Home for Old Ladies at Los Angeles.

Mrs. Harry Lewis and Mrs. C. E. Utt will have charge of the program and have asked that each member bring donations of canned fruit which later will be sent to the Los Angeles Home.

also told the interesting history of her costume. Last but not least came the refreshments. First, Santa Claus distributed cunning little red bags filled with popcorn and candies, after which Mrs. Robbins served plates with dainty sandwiches and olives. Aromatic coffee and delicious little Christmas cakes, made by the hostess and topped with candy canes, were passed, and with a sigh of regret the girls saluted forth into the cold again, and today, back again into the matter-of-fact business world, they were enjoying the fond memory of one of the happiest evenings of joy and relaxation in their busy lives.

Summer Shop Suggestions

Who does not feel that a flyswatter, when not in action, has no place in the house except in some corner of the furthestmost parts, where it is not available when one lone lorn fly is creating havoc in the living or dining room. The Summer Shop is featuring a long-handled swatter that is not only good-looking, it is a decoration. A flyswatter is not what you want? Then look around all the nooks and crannies of the "little shop up stairs" and you will find something else—something different. 111 1/2 W. 4th—Upstairs.

QUIZ MAN RELATIVE TO TOBACCO THEFT

City Marshal Claude Rogers was in Whittier today investigating the possible connection of a resident of that city with the recent theft of more than $2000 worth of cigarettes and cigars from the warehouse of the Roehm-Sylvester company, wholesalers of this city. It is said that the man in question yesterday offered a quantity of cigarettes for sale in that city at a price considerably under that asked by distributors of tobacco.

The man, in offering cigarettes in three case lots at a very low price was said to have cautioned the cigar dealer to whom he made the offer to say nothing of the would-be transaction, alleging it was claimed, that he received the cigarettes from a policeman in Los Angeles.

A short time after the offer was held to have been made to the dealer a representative of the Santa Ana wholesale house called and was told of the offer. The man was located and City Marshal Rogers was notified.

MATH TEST FOR POLY SENIORS ANNOUNCED

Santa Ana high school seniors today began making preparations to brush up on their addition, subtraction and multiplication during the Christmas holidays following the announcement by Principal D. K. Hammond that arithmetic tests will be given all members of the graduating class soon after the first of the year.

These examinations, going only into the more important phases of mathematics, must be satisfactorily passed before a pupil will be graduated from the local institution. Students who fail have the privilege of taking the test over until they have received a passing grade.

Open Special Classes
Special classes for those who failed in similar examinations in penmanship have been started.

With the local school nearing the close of its pre-Christmas term numerous student body activities were brought to the attention of the pupils today.

Aiming to eliminate last minute rush seniors were finishing the taking of their Ariel pictures so that editors may begin actual planning of the 1924 publication.

Christmas as it is celebrated in Mexico will be the object of the special holiday program planned for the meeting of the Spanish club next Thursday night. Miss Ruth Frothingham, faculty advisor, announced.

A Christmas tree, appropriate games and a program have been arranged with the idea of creating the true atmosphere of a Mexican Christmas.

A girls basketball game with the Riverside junior college next Saturday will decide whether the Santa Ana college girls' team will play Fullerton for the league championship.

Those who will go to Riverside include the Misses Lillian Arthur, Mary Sheffer, Mable Harvey, Ruth Langley, Addie Settle, Maud Gilchrist, Hazel Kinsel, Helen Wardwell, Lucille Goodwin and Miss Florence Treadway, coach.

Husband Takes Shot At 'Window Peeper'

"Peeping Tom," who has been prowling about Santa Ana homes for the past week, received a warm reception here at the home of A. E. Wallace, 501 East Washington street, according to police records today. Wallace fired a shot at the intruder last night, as the latter fled through the back yard of the Wallace home.

According to a report of the incident, Mrs. Wallace, who was in the kitchen at 9 o'clock, saw a man peering into the house. Mrs. Wallace screamed and her husband ran to the door. He fired one shot at the fleeing man and then notified the police.

Gibson's Photo Studio, 415 No. Broadway, open from 9:00 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. from now on 'til Xmas.

Cyclist's $12,000 Suit For Injuries in Court

W. H. Hamill of this city today was attempting to collect $12,440.50 from B. R. Roy, the trial of Hamill's suit against Roy being in progress here before Superior Judge Z. B. West.

Hamill claimed to have suffered a broken leg when his bicycle collided with Roy's automobile at the intersection of West Fourth and Patton streets, last January 11. He charged Roy with responsibility, but Roy, in his answer, contended that the blame, if any, belonged to Hamill.

Hamill asked $10,000 for his injury, $1500 for loss of wages and $220 for medical expense.

1923 BANQUET FOR NEWSBOYS DUE DEC. 28

Hey Skinnay! Did yer hear the news about the Christmas feed the Ladies' Aid society of the First Christian church is givin' us again this year?

Boydland was eagerly excited today as the first news of the big annual event in that kingdom trickled forth when Mrs. W. B. Williams, chairman of the committee on arrangements, announced that the night of December 28 had been selected for the dinner at which every newsie of the city will find a welcome.

For a number of years now, the Aid society of the Christian church, of which Mrs. T. D. Knights is president, has acted as host once during the holidays to the boys, who with faces shining with soap and happiness, gather by the dozen to enjoy chicken 'n' everything.

This year, Judge F. C. Drumm of the superior court here will be toastmaster and in that capacity will call upon boys of all ages from the smallest street salesman of all to the most grizzled veteran among newspaper folk, many of whom are always included as honored guests.

Details of the program arranged for the entertainment of the lively lads will be given by Mrs. Williams in the near future, it was promised, and in the meantime, the city's scores of newsies are whetting their appetites in readiness for the two feast-days of their calendar, Christmas and the Newsies' banquet.

TALBERT

Manuel Flores who was burned out in the fire of a few weeks ago when the building in which he ran a pool hall was burned to the ground has rented the north room of the new building erected by Sam Talbert on the original site and has now installed his business at the new stand.

The adjoining store room in the building has not yet been let as some of the inside finishing work has yet to be completed.

Horse clipping is in progress at the Talbert home ranch where an electric clipper is doing the work. Jess Davis and Granville Bland are running the clippers.

Failure to receive the delivery of piling which is to be used as a foundation for the new oil rig which is to be put up by the Globe Petroleum company has delayed the proposed work on the Pacific Land and Water company's land south of Talbert. The derrick is to be located in the slough district while it makes the driving of piling necessary.

A card received Friday from Mrs. A. F. Swift reported that the condition of Mildred Swift who is ill at the Loma Linda sanitarium was not so encouraging. Mildred who has been suffering from lucers of the stomach for some time was taken to the sanitarium Sunday of last week in the hope that the treatments would benefit her health.

Miss Gertrude Ambrose who teaches in Pasadena arrived Thursday to spend the holiday and over Sunday with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward.

The Talbert drainage district's steam shovel was brought the last of the week from ditch No. 2 where cleaning operations have been completed to the Talbert ranch where the dredge is to be completely overhauled at the shop.

Representatives of both the Southern Counties Gas company and Southern California Edison company were in Talbert the past week seeing to matters pertaining to the installation of their lines in town. Both companies expect to have their lines in by the first of the year.

The Talbert grading crew finished work on the Wishart subdivision at Westminster Saturday and grading was begun on the Aldrich tract the first of this week.

STEVEDORE ENDS HIS LIFE
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Nicholas Cronauer, stevedore, 49, was found dead of gas asphyxiation in his room at his home at 2150 Fifth street by his wife, Mrs. Fanny Cronauer. She told the police that her husband had lost money through gambling and had become morose and despondent. Cronauer left a note, written partly in German, and for the greater part unintelligible to coroner's deputies.

ALSO IN LIQUOR BUSINESS
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 5.—Ira Dudley, professional bondsman, made a specialty of furnishing bonds for bootleggers, at fancy profits. He was at the police station in the line of his business when dry raiders brought in a 400-gallon still. "It's a peach; where did you get it?" asked Dudley. "On your farm," the chief replied. Dudley furnished his own bond without profit. The police believe they have found the biggest source of "white mule" in this region.

Man Found Guilty Of Beating Girl Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Albert R. Scott was found guilty of beating his 20-year-old wife, Mrs. Jeffries Morse, by Police Judge McAttee. The young wife testified that after she had obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from Scott he came to the home of her parents at 77 Cedro street, where she was living, broke through a door and beat her severely. Scott told the court that he wanted to see his 2-year-old baby and that his wife and relatives had conspired to keep him from doing so.

Bradshaw Deported On 'Honeymoon' Ship

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Lester J. Bradshaw left for Australia. Two and a half years ago, on the same ship that carried him, the Ventura, Bradshaw left as a bridegroom. He left as a paroled prisoner from San Quentin, where he had served for embezzling $10,000 from the National Bank of Richmond. He went as a deportee. His wife, who was active in the fight for his release on parole, did not sail with him.

Jury Blames Firearm Dealer for Accident

MARYSVILLE, Dec. 11.—Word comes from Woodleaf, a resort in the Yuba county foothills, that an other bear has been caught near Clipper Mills, making a total of eight this season. The bears were caught by Ray Powell and Charles McGrew. A party in Los Angeles has sent word that they want a live bear, and George Abbott and McGrew are planning a hunt during the next two weeks when they expect to make a capture.

Eighth Bear Caught At Woodleaf Resort

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 11.—Urging that a city ordinance be enacted prohibiting the sale of firearms to children under 18, a coroner's jury returned a verdict in the case of Ronald B. Rimmer, 13, who was shot and killed by Joseph De Bery, 11, exonerating the youth. The jury placed the moral blame for the fatal accident on a storekeeper who sold the boys a rifle. Young Rimmer died November 28 following his accidental shooting by De Bery with whom he was hunting birds. The rifle was purchased by a number of boys who clipped in their nickels. The purchase was made without the knowledge of the boys' parents.

Northern California

SACRAMENTO.—Backers of the candidacy of Calvin Coolidge for President carried their fight into Senator Hiram Johnson's home town here with the formation of the Loyal Republican League, an organization having as its purpose the promotion of Coolidge's campaign in the coming primaries.

SAN FRANCISCO.—This city needs no more physicians, according to the San Francisco Association of Building Owners and Managers, which says the health figures indicate that it would be folly to erect more medical buildings at this time. In San Francisco, the association says, there is one doctor for every 500 inhabitants, and has been for fourteen years.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Douglas B. Crane, capitalist of San Mateo and San Francisco, paid $72,000 in compromise tax and an additional $50,000 to the Federal Internal Revenue Bureau here, after having been indicted on charges of evasion and perjury in connection with the payment of his income taxes between 1915 and 1920.

Collie Lost in Arizona Returns to Indiana Home

PRINCETON, Ind., Dec. 11.—In June, 1922, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Powell, motoring from California, while stopping for lunch at the edge of an Arizona desert, 1500 miles from Princeton, released their 1-year-old collie, Billie. The dog ran away and Mr. and Mrs. Powell, who now live in Fairfield, Ill., had not seen him since.

Billie, gaunt and dragged, recently reappeared in front of the old Powell home. He found strangers living there. Charles Paul, brother of Mrs. Powell, found Billie and the dog was taken to the home of Mrs. Powell's mother, Mrs. C. E. Paul, where he was fed. Mrs. Paul and her family say there is no doubt the animal is the same as the one that was lost, but they can not explain how Billie was able to retrace a 1300-mile trail to his former home.

Second Marriage Proves Failure on Sixth Day

PONTIAC, Mich., Dec. 11.—Fredrick Ernst Vonhessen, Royal Oak civil engineer, has on file in circuit court a petition asking the annulment of his marriage to Mrs. Vonhessen No. 2 whom he married two days after Mrs. Vonhessen No. 1 divorced him.

Biographer's Will Bans Memoirs of Own Life

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The late Viscount Morley, famous as a biographer, imposes a ban on any biography of himself in his will, published here.

The estate is valued for probate at $59,765, including an extensive and valuable library.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—E. Francis Williams, 68, father of Wyman Williams, well known local business man, was near death today, following his accidentally shooting himself below the heart while cleaning a revolver. Physicians fear the aged man will not recover.

Seed Barley Alfalfa Seed

The time is here to buy your seed barley and Alfalfa seed. We will soon be into the rainy season. It almost invariably happens that, when the rains start, seed barley prices take a jump. Everyone wants to seed at the same time and clean seed soon sells at a premium. If you can figure your needs now and have your seed bought when the rains start, you will be sure of your cost as well as your quality.

We have some very nice re-cleaned barley this year. It is from the San Joaquin Valley and will make excellent seed. We also have an excellent quality of re-cleaned and tested Alfalfa seed—both the Chilean (or common) and the Hairy Peruvian. In the lower lands we would suggest Alfalfa seedling in late January, February, and early March. Our Alfalfa seed tests better than 99% in purity and the tests show no noxious weed seed at all. Buy the best—it pays.

'POISON BOOZE' APPELLATION FOES DEATH CASE HERE

2 Accused As Vendors In Fatal Revel Are Held For Manslaughter

COUNSEL IN HOT TILTS

Rum Contained No Potion, But Was Alcoholic to 50 Per Cent, Claim

With their bail reduced from $10,000 to $5,000 each, A. P. Monahan of Huntington Beach and Frank A. Gilroy of Los Angeles were held in the county jail here today pending their arraignment in the superior court on a manslaughter charge, they having been held to answer at a preliminary hearing concluded in Justice J. B. Cox's court late yesterday.

Testimony offered at yesterday's hearing in connection with the death of Joe Conroy, Huntington Park glass worker, which was assigned by a coroner's jury to excessive consumption of liquor, linked Monahan and Gilroy to the sale of the liquor said to have been consumed by Conroy. The court ordered them held for trial, but cut their bail in half.

Tells of Analysis. The appellation of "poison booze" attached to the liquor said to have been sold to Conroy's party just before his death, in view of testimony at the hearing, was made either inapplicable to the liquor in question or else applicable to all analysis showed. It was testified, that the liquor said to have been imbibed by Conroy was more than 50 per cent alcohol and contained no wood alcohol or other poisons said to be popular ingredients of bootleg liquor.

Torga Anderson and Joe Rowan, companions of Conroy on the day of his death, testified at the hearing regarding events of a trip to Huntington Beach from Los Angeles and the discovery at Westminster on the return journey that Conroy was dead.

Counsel Clash. Anderson testified at length regarding the affair and was sharply cross-examined by Attorney Thomas L. McFadden of Anaheim, counsel for Monahan, and Attorney Pachet of Los Angeles, representing Gilroy. Anderson's slow answers and his failure to make any reply at all to some questions drew frequent fire of sarcasm from the exasperated counsel for the defense.

"I don't know whether that question reflects on the witness or upon counsel," Mozley returned.

Auto Crashes Concrete Mixer; Man Is Killed

WESTBURY, N. Y., Dec. 11.—Martin Eisenhauer, assistant cashier of the Wheatley Hills Bank, was killed when the automobile in which he was riding crashed into a large concrete mixer on Post avenue during a heavy fog.

He was leaning out of the car, watching the road ahead for George Hesse, driver of the automobile, but the dense fog prevented him seeing the mixer, which stood partly in the road.

Courthouse Quakes When Judicial Fountain Pen Lost

"Who got Judge West's fountain pen?" In awe-stricken whispers this question was asked today in the courthouse corridors where agitation followed the discovery that the pen, boon companion of Superior Judge Z. B. West for the last eleven years, had disappeared.

No ordinary fountain pen would draw the attention aroused by this judicial implement, it was agreed.

Vast sums have hung upon its single stroke; both happiness and gloom have been imparted by its flow of legal ink; prisoners have been condemned to servitude and marital slaves have been freed by the flourishes of this distinctive pen.

"I've lost my best friend," Judge West groaned today, while onlookers shivered.

"Gee, I'd hate to be the guy that got his pen," they murmured. "He'll get a million years if he ever comes up before Judge West."

Pete Walls Closes In On Ivan Parke As Leading Jockey

TIJUANA RACETRACK, Mex., Dec. 11.—With Jockey Ivan Parke, a product of the last Tijuana season, only a few moments ahead of Jockey Pete Walls, the race between these two to ride the greatest number of winners during 1923 is a close one.

Parke is now riding at New Orleans and just the other day booted home five winners. The following day Walls, riding at Tijuana, brought home four of his mounts.

Tijuana last season furnished the champion rider in Jockey M. Fator. By riding four horses to victory Dec. 31, Fator earned the championship, leading Lang by one winning mount for the entire year. Jockey Walls is the first string rider for the Commander J. K. L. Ross stable and accordingly has the best of thoroughbreds to handle. He also is allowed to take outside mounts and with the Tijuana horsemen giving him choice runners to pilot, it is declared that he has a fine chance of becoming the champion.

CHRISTMAS SEALS MAKING APPEARANCE

Thousands of tiny Christmas seals are beginning to make their appearance on letters and packages in the holiday season's mail. Each little seal, priced at a penny, helps to garner the annual fund with which the Orange County Tuberculosis association finances its work among children and adults who are victims of the great white plague.

The Christmas seal sale this year is being carried on through a letter campaign, Mrs. John Clarkson, of 801 Minter street, secretary of the county association, being very busy mailing out the seals.

Every cent derived from the seals goes towards the financing of the campaign against tuberculosis, and it is hoped this year to be able to employ a nurse who will devote her entire time to the work.

Charles A. Riggs, president of the association, and Mrs. Clarkson, urge that the general public make as prompt a response as possible to the letter appeal, broadcasted into practically every home in the county.

LIBRARY BOARD HAS BUILDING ACTION PLAN

Joint Conference Would Be Called on Status of Civic Center

The Santa Ana library board contemplates a conference at an early date between the board and representatives of the city council with the city planning commission, it became known here today, following a meeting of the library board last night.

Discussing its problems, the board decided that each member should interview members of the other organizations and then arrange for a joint conference, at which the predicament of the library may be discussed and an attempt made to solve the problems. Stressing the point that the library now is overcrowded and facilities are lacking for giving patrons proper service, a member of the board pointed out that plans for locating a civic center on the site of the Frances E. Willard high school are so uncertain as to date of possible accomplishment under immediate action of some nature is imperative.

It was further pointed out the project of building a new city hall at the suggested civic center, of which the library might be a part, in which event other steps would have to be taken to provide more adequate quarters for the library. In private discussions of the library some local residents have expressed the belief that in event of failure of the civic center plan, the present library structure should be razed and a new two or three-story building erected covering all of the lot. It is said that there are some who believe that this plan should be adopted now and maintenance of the library in its present location continued.

SACRAMENTAN GETS SAN QUENTIN TERM

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 11.—Charles S. Ralph, Sacramento fuel dealer, was sentenced to serve an indeterminate term of from six months to five years in San Quentin Prison and is now confined in the Sacramento County jail pending the opinion of the Third District Court of Appeal on his appeal from the rulings and sentence imposed by the Superior court.

Ralph was sentenced by Superior Judge C. O. Busick for defrauding the city school department by short-weight fuel delivered to the Leland Stanford School during September, 1922. An appeal was taken immediately after the sentence.

The prison term was imposed by Judge Busick after he first denied Ralph's motion for a new trial and his subsequent application for probation.

Relic of Washington's Campaign Is Found

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 11.—A relic of the war out of which American was born is in the possession of Mrs. Antonio Sanders, of Oklahoma, having been unearthed by a plow, it is said, more than sixty years ago on the farm of her grandmother.

The relic is a George Washington campaign button; worn by the first President's soldiers, according to best information available, and is believed to be the only one in existence.

LAX MARRIAGE LAWS BLAMED FOR CRIMES

Juveniles 'Go Wrong' In Mismatched Homes, State Parole Man States

Laxity of marriage laws in this and other states was blamed today by Louis M. Corbell, deputy state parole officer from the Preston school at Lone, Calif., for the increasing amount of juvenile crime, who was here on business connected with his office.

He said that the present system of obtaining marriage licenses permits the marriage of mental and physical defectives, boys and girls too young to take up the burdens of married life and those unfitted through heredity and training to become the parents of children. During the past six months, he declared, he had prevented twenty-nine marriages that would never have proved successful, and which might have given to the world children who would be classed as mental defectives.

Defectives Blamed "The greater percentage of juvenile crime," he continued, "is committed in this state by children that are considered as only 80 per cent normal. It is not the child's fault that it is a mental defective; it is the fault of the parents and the marriage laws that allow the union of persons unfitted to be parents."

A measure that has been proposed as a national measure to curb this evil was upheld by Corbell. He said that the suggestion of a law compelling the publishing of intentions to wed for six months before the wedding was upheld by Corbell. This law, according to Corbell, would give authorities opportunity to investigate the records of the applicants as to their fitness for marriage.

Speaking of the increase of juvenile marriages in California, Corbell said many wedding traumas had come to his attention, through the work of the department.

Embezzles Bride He cited as an instance a case that came to his attention a few months ago in which a young man wooed and won a girl who believed that he was the scion of English nobility. Later the youth embezzled several thousand dollars from his bride and departed, he said. Then the youth married another girl without securing a divorce, he added.

A more recent case that occurred in this county was investigated and disclosed that a youth had secured a ring for his prospective bride by depositing with the jeweler one fished from his mother, as the first payment.

The girl had been told tales of land holdings and expensive automobiles, Corbell said that at the time of his questioning the boy was penniless and without employment. The wedding was called off and the girl went back to work.

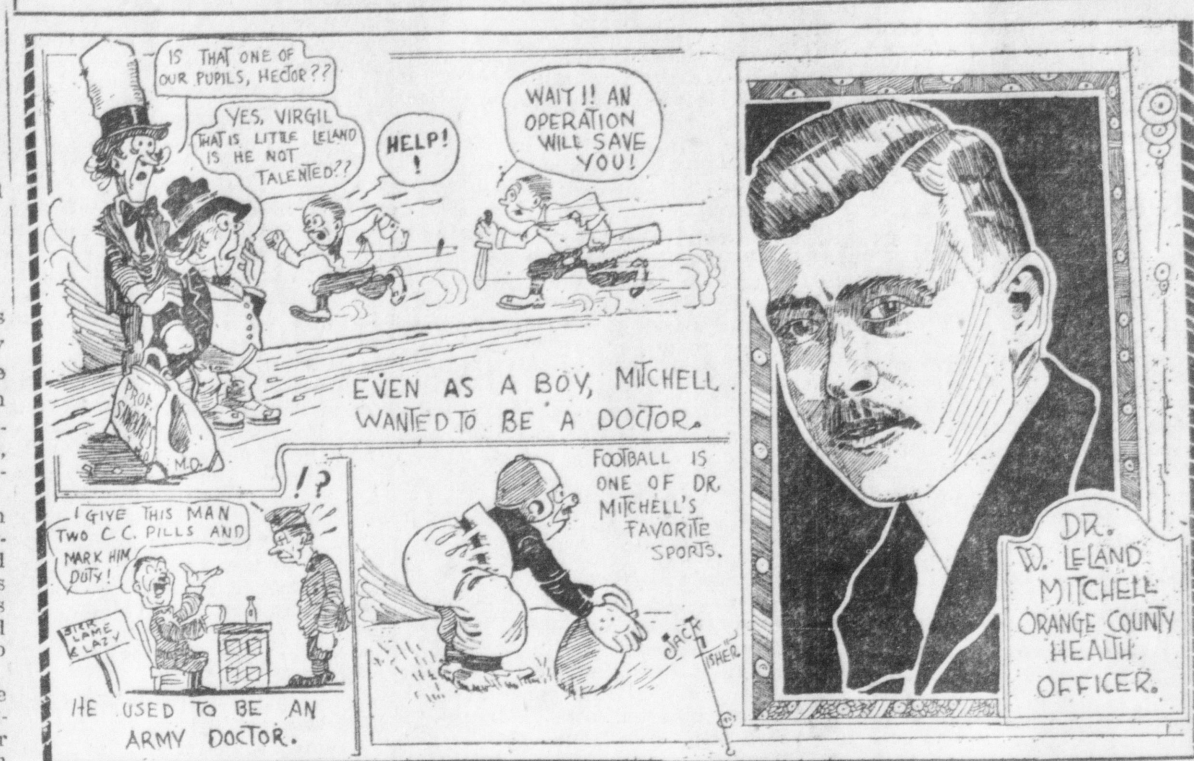

It is marriages such as these that give to the world criminally inclined children, Corbell contends.

Too Many Cream Puffs Prove Nurses' Downfall

PITTSBURG, Dec. 11.—Candies and cream puffs were responsible for the dismissal of 202 student nurses from training schools in the state because of physical disability, if charges made by delegates at the annual meeting of the Graduate Nurses' Association are correct.

A number of graduate nurses said the habit of student nurses constantly eating cream puffs and candies instead of sticking to the plain fare prescribed by the dietitians made them unfit physically to follow training.

COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER GIVES ARTIST DIAGNOSIS WHEN FACIAL LINES WANTED

Dr. W. Leland Mitchell, Orange county health officer, whose laurels were augmented during the war, as portrayed by Artist Jack Fisher.

OUTFALL SEWER WORK DELAYED BY HIGH TIDE

Saturday's high tide, combined with the windstorm, has halted work on the ocean end of the outfall sewer, it was stated today by W. G. Knox, city engineer of Santa Ana and in charge of building for the outfall of the four cities co-operating in the big enterprise.

The high tide did no damage to the work already installed, the engineer said, but he added that it was impossible to proceed with the work while waves were running high and the wind was making the surface water rough.

The delay occasioned by the forced suspension of operation will not delay the contractors in completing the work within the additional sixty days from December 2, recently granted the contracting firm, DeWard and Cobham, the engineer added.

"The outfall line should be fully completed by the early part of February, and maybe before if the contractors do not have other enforced delays," Knox said.

Pointing out that the original contracting firm has sublet the contract for building of the line out into the ocean, the engineer said the sub-contractors had some good equipment on the ground. With experience in similar work back of them, the new firm should complete the work in short time, according to Knox.

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 11.—Mrs. Adeline Englehardt gave birth here to her twentieth child. Twelve of the children are living, including twins. Eight are dead. The birth of the last child, which has not been named, followed on the death of its father, Adolph, who died several weeks ago after a 10-year illness.

BY JACK FISHER

Good evening everybody. We have a snappy little narrative to spill this evening, so give us your kind attention for a few moments.

To begin this story we wish to state that about thirty years ago a child was born in Staunton, Ill. This child, who is the subject of our story, at a very early age developed a surprising and startling talent in wielding a stethoscope and had a passion for modern dissection.

This child has now grown to manhood and is known to you as Dr. W. Leland Mitchell, Orange county health officer.

Well folks, at any rate, the little gloom of gloom, better known as the city editor, woke us up this morning and sent us forth in search of the doctor. In explanation, I wish to state that the city editor did not need a doctor, he never does; in fact he is most annoyingly healthy. What he wanted was to expose Dr. Mitchell's past and as usual we were picked for the heavy work.

Makes Diagnosis So we hurried into the worthy doctor's office at the courthouse. We found a modest young doctor hiding behind a young, but courageous mustache. (Note same in cartoon!)

The doctor studied us thoughtfully. "Clearly a case of malnutrition," he murmured.

"No, no," we hasten to correct. "I have it," shouts the good doctor gleefully. "Your wife is on a strike and you don't get enough to eat. That accounts for your tired and hungry appearance."

"Wrong again, good Sherlock," we replied. "We are not married and, therefore, have no wife (advertising), and our reason for being here is to cartoon you and write you up for our sheet. An artist always looks pale and thin."

The doctor became silent at this and we began our delightful work of penning his features (in an altered state), on a nice piece of white paper. At the same time we questioned him concerning his past.

Goes Overseas "Before coming here to take the position I now hold I resided in St. Louis," began Dr. Mitchell. "There I went to school and graduated from the Washington university school of medicine. Shortly after my graduation the war came along and I was assigned to base hospital No. 21 in France. I spent two years overseas and then returned to St. Louis, but was soon appointed to return to the old country with the American Relief administration. This time I spent two and a half years, traveling all over."

FROST DAMAGE PREVENTED BY WIND STORM

By preventing a heavy frost here last night, and possible heavy damage to citrus fruits, the cold desert wind compensated, in some measure, for the disagreeable weather conditions it has created since last Friday night, in the opinion of A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner, today.

According to the weather record maintained by E. E. Campbell, government weather bureau representative for this district, the lowest temperature last night was 43 degrees. The weather bureau of Los Angeles yesterday predicted killing frosts early this morning, and it was pointed out by Brock that had the wind abated, as predicted by the bureau, old Jack Frost would have been nipping tender growth in this vicinity.

Brock said that he had not been into the citrus sections to investigate damage done to citrus fruits by the wind storm. No reports had come into his office. Bruising of fruit by whipping of the trees will be the greatest source of loss resulting from the wind, the commissioner said.

President of Insolvent Bank Commits Suicide

PADUCAH, Ky., Dec. 11.—Frank N. Fisher, president of the Ohio Valley Fire & Marine Insurance company and ex-president of the Ohio Valley Bank and Trust company, which closed its doors following an announcement of insolvency last week, shot and killed himself at his home here.

SANTA ASKS AID SO KIDDIES OF CITY MAY BE JOYFUL THIS CHRISTMAS

Empty Stockings Are Not In Prospect If Names of Worthy Learned

ASSISTANCE PLEDGED

Civic and Other Charitable Organizations Program Extensive Giving

Will there be many children in Santa Ana with tear-wet eyes on Christmas morning because Santa Claus passed them by?

"No," said Mrs. J. H. Leebriek, head of the county welfare department, today. "Not if this department and charitable organizations here learn in advance who such unfortunate kiddies may be."

"But without aid many a father ended the morning of Yuletide, with aching hearts because of the disappointment in store for the little ones."

"Mrs. Leebriek said she had supplied the Santa Ana post of the American Legion with names of several worthy families unable to supply for themselves the joys of Christmas. The Legion men have agreed to bring Christmas to these families, she stated.

Lodges Are Active R. L. Bisy, Santa Claus for the Shriners of Santa Ana, said this organization would do this year as it has in the past. Christmas cheer will be carried by Shriners into homes where it would be lacking otherwise, he said, adding that the Shrine, no doubt, would follow its custom of providing Christmas cheer for the children in the county detention home, and would assist some of their schools with their Christmas programs.

Plans are being made by Santa Ana Pyramid No. 41, Ancient Order of Egyptian Societies, to give a vaudeville program at the Temple theater on the night of December 20 for the benefit of the Masonic Christmas fund. This fund will be used in the distribution of Christmas presents to the poor of Santa Ana.

A Christmas tree in Birch park and entertainment for the "kiddies" Saturday, December 22, will be the part taken by the Santa Ana lodge of Elks in helping Santa Claus this year. A Punch and Judy show will open the festivities in the park at 1 o'clock. After the show Santa Claus will distribute toys, candy, and other gifts to the children.

Unfortunates Increase While the spirit of Christmas is making itself felt all over Santa Ana,

Ill Health Causes Girl to Take Poison

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Weighing her youth and beauty against her ill health, 17-year-old Alice Mitchell found the scales uneven.

A few minutes later her 19-year-old sister, Clara, stepping into the dining room of her home at 2837 Folsom street, found Alice semi-conscious on a couch, an empty poison bottle on the floor beside her. Clara telephoned the Mission Emergency hospital, where it was said that the girl probably will die. The girl's mother was in Berkeley when Alice tried to end her life, and did not learn of her daughter's act until she returned home.

Book Ban Urged to Save Patients' Eyes

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Convalescents should take care not to strain their eyes by overmuch reading. And kind friends would do well not to send too many books to persons recuperating from the effects of a severe illness, according to the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness.

Negress Nabbed For Running Down Child

REDWOOD CITY, Dec. 11.—Mrs. Alice Lucas, colored, wife of a cook at a fraternity house at Stanford University, was lodged in the county jail here today on a charge of having run down 12-year-old Wilbert Preston and driving off without rendering aid. Young Preston, who resides with his parents at 455 Jefferson avenue, Redwood city, was on his way to school when run over. He sustained a broken ankle and other minor injuries. The woman is held in default of $1000 cash bail.

through Europe and working in connection with the American Red Cross. Then I came back to the states and was assigned to this post. And here I am."

Being very modest, Dr. Mitchell failed to mention that he was highly commended for his distinguished work overseas and his appointment as head of relief work for all of Poland. We had to get this information from another source.

Well, after enjoying the doctor's hospitality for a time, we left without being dissected or even having been introduced to his stethoscope. So long, see you all again as soon as we are able to find another victim.

Husband Deserts Freed Woman Slayer

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 11.—Released from life commitment at the Worcester State hospital, Mrs. Annie Depari, convicted slayer of Salvatore Martucci, Worcester and Boston gunman, returned to her home, only to find that her husband, Antonio, from whom she had been estranged, had deserted her and taken two small sons, according to her tearful complaint to the officers.

Styles Too Costly For Mexican Women

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 11.—Costly raiment for the working girl is the target of a campaign just launched by the leaders of the Catholic Women's Syndicates. They claim that the profit hungry employer insists that his fair or otherwise subordinates be fashionable clad because it's a "good business measure." He doesn't however, give them a dress allowance and, to hold their jobs, many times the señoritas must skimp

SANTA ASKS AID FOR KIDDIES OF CITY

And shoppers through the streets and crowd stores purchasing the gifts that have much of heart value, many of these presents are destined for homes of want, it was learned by Mrs. Leebrick.

The number of these unfortunate has increased this year, according to statistics obtainable at her office.

"Along with the crowd of well-to-do tourists who have decided to make California their home has come a throng of their less-wealthy brethren seeking an opportunity to better their lot in life," Mrs. Leebrick added.

"They left the east to escape the rigors of a cold winter and because of the labor situation that made it impossible for many to earn a living. These men are not skilled artisans, for the most part, but are unskilled laborers. Immediate employment was necessary for them and they could not find it. Some of them have found employment now, but every dollar is required to feed and clothe the members of their families. Usually there is nothing left for the securing of the little things that bring Christmas cheer to the heart."

Employment Vital

While most fraternal and civic organizations are making preparations to take their part in the bringing of cheer to the hearts of the needy at Yuletide, there is still work to be done.

Mrs. Leebrick said today that the best Christmas gift that could be brought to many of these needy families is employment. She said that until a short time ago forty applications a day for work and other assistance made to her department constituted a busy day.

Now she interviews a daily average of sixty persons seeking assistance. The calls on her department are increasing as the holiday season approaches, as mothers and fathers are anxious to provide the necessities of life for their children, she said.

Army Officer Seeks Alimony Reduction

LITTLE ROCK, Dec. 11.—Contending that his salary of $550 a month was inadequate to pay alimony of $250 a month, support his present wife and child and his aged mother and to "maintain an establishment befitting a Colonel of cavalry in the United States army, in command of one of the largest posts in the country," Colonel John J. Boniface, commanding officer of the 13th Cavalry, filed a motion that the amount of alimony he is required to pay his former wife be reduced.

Hunt for S. P. Bandits Extends to Mexico

JUAREZ, Mexico, Dec. 11.—Mexican state and federal officers are taking up the hunt for the De Antrumont brothers, Roy, Ray and Hugh, wanted in connection with the holdup of a Southern Pacific train in Southern Oregon October 11. American detectives are working with the Mexican officials and are in possession of information that indicates the three refugees are in hiding in Mexico. They recently were reported at Puebla, capital of the state of that name.

Santa Rosa Check Passer Sentenced

SANTA ROSA, Dec. 11.—Ernest Colter, alias Wentworth, was sentenced to serve from one to four years in San Quentin prison, after having been convicted of check passing here. He was wanted in a number of other California cities on a similar charge.

Can't Tell 'Em Where To Secure Drink Now

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 11.—It's a violation of Federal law to tell a man where he can get a drink, Federal Judge George W. McClintic instructed a special grand jury in a case. It is covered under the definition of conspiracy, he declared.

Woodpecker Is Alarm Clock For Southern City

KINGSTON, N. C., Dec. 11.—A woodpecker, with a sense of humor, has replaced alarm clocks in northeast Kingston.

Awakened by a rattle-ata-ta, like a machine gun barrage, on the eaves of their houses, residents investigated. Here is what they claim they found:

Every morning, regularly at 6:30, a red-headed woodpecker leaves his nest in an electric light pole nearby and makes a systematic tour of the homes in the vicinity. At each home he hops on the tin roof or eaves and pecks away determinedly and vigorously for a minute and then flits on to awaken the next sleeping household.

The neighborhood "alarm clock" is never later than 6:30 in the morning and never misses a house.

It Costs $125 Month to Keep Girl, Says Court

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11.—The Supreme Court of Louisiana decided that $125 a month is required for the upkeep of a 13-year-old girl. The court ordered Nicholas G. Huth, president of the Huth Construction company, to pay his wife that amount for the support of his daughter, Rosemary.

Injun Joe, Mark Twain Character, Dies at 102

HANNIBAL, Mo., Dec. 11.—Injun Joe, called to fame by Mark Twain in "Tom Sawyer," died the other day at the age of 102. For more than seventy-five years he had answered the call of the wild up and down the Mississippi River and never wandered from his banks.

Injun Joe, whose real name was Joe Douglas, emphatically denied being the original of the fictional Indian, but Hannibal residents insist it is. There was much of romance in his life. He was found in an abandoned Indian village of Callaway county and reared by a white man.

Two Indiana Miners Killed by Ton of Slate

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.—Search for the "master mind" in a plot to blackmail Mrs. J. Hovard Fell, wife of a well-to-do printer here, for $2,000 by threatening the lives of Mrs. Fell and her baby, was under way here.

Arthur R. Hatton, of Macon, Ga., is still held in $2000 bail as the bearer of the blackmail message to Mrs. Fell, but according to detectives, he is merely a "tool" in the plot. Hatton stoutly maintains he was asked to deliver the message by a stranger he met in the Y. M. C. A. here, the latter furnishing a taxicab to the him to the Fell home. Hatton was arrested there by waiting postal inspectors.

TERRE HAUTE, Dec. 11.—Tons of falling slate crushed to death Evans Benjamin and Richard Van Allen, miners at the Talleydale mine of the Fort Harrison Coal and Mining company, near here.

Millions Are Lost Playing 'Suit Clubs'

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Persons playing "suit clubs" to win a suit of clothes pay $20,000,000 a year for $2,000,000 worth of clothing, at a conservative estimate, according to representatives of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers here. This was revealed in raids two weeks ago by the state's attorney on "suit clubs" in Chicago. It is said.

Charles E. Wry stated today that victims had been complaining daily about high-pressure salesmen making extravagant promises which later were repudiated by the concerns they represented.

Liberty Bell to Be Seen Day or Night

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.—The Liberty Bell will be made visible to the public day and night, summer and winter, under plans being formulated by Wilfred Jordan, curator of Independence Hall, where it rests. Heretofore thousands of visitors have failed to see the famous old bell because the building is closed to the public during certain hours. Under the new plans it is proposed to place at the rear portal of Independence Hall a Georgian grill of wrought iron, that the bell may be clearly seen at all times.

Road Hogs Warned to Respect Equestrians

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 11.—The horseback rider will be protected on the highways of the county, announces Sheriff James Ross. Complaints have been received that motorists are crowding the horseback rider, hogging the highways and frightening the horses by sounding horns.

"I'll arrest every motorist charged with interfering with the rights of the horsemen on the highways," the sheriff announces.

New Boyes Springs Hotel Plans Approved

NAPA, Dec. 11.—Word has been received here to the effect that the Boyes Springs Hotel company has accepted plans for its new hotel, upon which work will be commenced almost immediately. The new structure which will contain sixty rooms with private baths will be of typical California architecture with stucco exterior. It will contain a large and well-lighted dining-room and spacious lobby. This building will replace the one destroyed by fire on September 17, last.

Police Investigate Suspected Murder

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—The homicide squad of the police department began an investigation into the death of Gettoni Citrino, barber, 47, 7 Gilbert street, who was found unconscious in a vacant lot at Sixth and Bryant streets by his son, Antonio Citrino. An autopsy performed disclosed that Citrino's scalp was bruised and his skull was fractured. He is thought by the police to have been beaten to death.

BOULDER, Colo., Dec. 11.—Policeman Elmer E. Cobb was shot to death while on duty. Cobb was found in the downtown section with a bullet in his heart.

He had been a member of the police force for two years, and was one of four officers dismissed from the force last week by City Manager Mitchell. The dismissals would be effective in two weeks.

Place of Cobb's assailant has been found.

Jury Convicts Man of Killing Boy 9 Years Old

DALTON, Ga., Dec. 11.—After liberating but a short time, the jury in the case of State vs. John Parsons, charged with the murder of Jim Baggett, June 14, 1914, Monday afternoon returned a verdict of guilty of involuntary manslaughter in the commission of an unlawful act. He was sentenced from one to three years in the penitentiary.

Baggett, a boy, was stabbed and killed in a quarrel. The defense alleged that Parsons' brother, who has never been apprehended, did the stabbing.

The trial was held at Chatsworth, the county seat of Murray.

PASADENA—Dr. J. B. Albrook, retired Methodist minister, was elected commander of the John Godfrey post of the Grand Army of the Republic at the organization's annual meeting. During the Civil war Dr. Albrook served in Company I, Second Iowa Cavalry. He is well known in Pasadena.

EL CENTRO—Cotton growers preparing to plant next year's crop are discussing organization of a cotton growers' association whose main purpose would be to standardize the variety of seed planted and grades of fiber. Acala cotton is being favored in the purchases of seed for the next crop. This variety has proved successful from standpoints of yield, and market prices.

SANTA MONICA—L. M. Ford, Bay District real estate man, has been elected head of the Santa Monica Bay Realty Board. F. J. McNamara was elected first vice president; S. F. Woody, second vice president, and W. V. McCoy secretary-treasurer.

LONG BEACH—That Signal Hill may not become a part of Long Beach at the annexation election scheduled for this month, was indicated when it was announced that several residents of the hill section are launching a movement to establish a city of the sixth class.

SAN DIEGO—The Christmas cry of the Salvation Army lassie, "Keep the pot boiling," which used to be heard on the streets as passers by were invited to drop coins into the iron receptacle, will not be heard this year. The city council turned down an appeal of the Salvation Army for a permit to make the pre-Christmas collections. It was in line with the policy of the body to eliminate all street solicitation.

HUNTINGTON PARK—Local Elks will have a float in the parade at the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena on January 1. The local lodge is the sixteenth that has signified its intention of participating in the Elks division of the parade.

SANTA BARBARA—Millions of big brown butterflies migrating southward obscured the highway south of this city this morning and made driving difficult. So dense were the swarms at some places that motorists could hardly see the roadway.

Fumigators After Thieves At Anaheim

ANAHEIM, Dec. 11—In order to prevent further stealing of fumigation tents in the vicinity, and in order to bring the thieves to justice, Herbert Oelke of the firm of Bonkosky and Oelke, fumigators yesterday offered a reward for the return of a 45-foot tent stolen during the week-end.

This is the fourth tent this firm has lost, and other firms have recently reported similar losses.

"Hereafter we will have watchmen stationed at the tents, and anyone caught stealing them will get a warm reception," Oelke stated yesterday.

Paris Press Would Ban Horses on Main Streets

PARIS, Dec. 11—The horse, nearly obsolete for passenger conveyance, is pursued relentlessly by traffic regulators. The old-fashioned cabbies and their antique nags are so rare now that they are considered picturesque.

But in the rush of motorized life the few remaining outfits are accused of obstructing the paths to progress. Many newspapers are campaigning to prohibit all horse or man drawn vehicles on the principal streets and limiting motor truck to certain hours, "as is done in America."

Man Leaves Estate Of $22,000 to Friend

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11—A friendship terminated only by the death of one of the companions, was revealed in Superior Judge Graham's court when the will of George Maier was probated. The $22,000 estate of the late Maier who was an employee of the John Bolman Tobacco and Cigarette company, was left entirely to "his dear friend and co-worker, W. E. Van Doren," who lives at 613 Fourth street.

His Crazy-Quilt Suit Made of 2887 Pieces

DENVER, Dec. 11—Downtown Denver traffic was congested when A. T. Vandeventer, 70-year-old Oklahoma farmer, paraded Sixth street wearing his "crazy-quilt" suit of clothes. Vandeventer was accompanied by his wife who informed the curious that she made the suit herself, which consisted of 2887 pieces. It took her six weeks and three days to accomplish the gaudy affair.

Pioneer Miner of Siskiyou is Buried

YREKA, Dec. 10—M. L. Lpdy, one of the best-known mining men in this part of the state and a native of Siskiyou county, 66 years old, was buried here funeral services being conducted by Rev. M. McNamara at the Catholic church. Luddy died at the county hospital following an illness of two years, resulting from an attack of influenza. Luddy was one of the first white persons born in the salmon section of Siskiyou county and for many years followed gold mining.

Show Man's Car Taken, But Later Is Recovered

An automobile belonging to a member of the cast of a road show that played here last night was taken, during the performance, from in front of the theater. It was later found on East Fourth street, where it had been abandoned.

After the performance E. S. Larson, owner of the automobile, when he discovered his car had disappeared, notified authorities.

While at the police station reporting his loss, J. E. Harvey, another member of the company, found the car near the railway station where baggage belonging to the troupe was being loaded.

CORONER PROBING 2 AUTOMOBILE DEATHS

Two inquests were scheduled at the same hour and place today by Coroner Charles D. Brown, who was preparing to investigate the deaths of R. K. Townsend, 28, of Elsie, Texas, and Delbert Wolfe, 32, of Orana, victims of two recent accidents.

The inquests were to be held, one directly following the other, in the undertaking parlors of Backs Terry and Campbell at Anaheim, where both the bodies are held.

Townsend met his death in a collision between a car occupied by himself and his two brothers, Dave and Jess Townsend, and a machine driven by W. E. Winters of Wintersburg. The wreck took place west of Anaheim early yesterday. Dave Townsend received a fractured skull and may not recover. It is said, Jess Townsend's injuries were less severe. Winters was slightly hurt in the crash. All were treated at an Anaheim hospital.

Wolfe succumbed Sunday night in an Anaheim hospital as a result of injuries sustained last Wednesday when a car in which he was riding upset on West Fifth street, this city.

DIVORCE SUIT RACE WON BY HUSBAND

Unwittingly entered in a race through traffic to the divorce complaint counter in the Hall of Records, Attorney Clarence De Lancy, representing Eugene F. Cardinet, won out over Attorney A. T. McDonald, representing Mrs. Lucille M. Cardinet, by less than a minute. De Lancy had placed his complaint in the hands of Deputy County Clerk W. A. Adams, with a request that he be filed, when Attorney McDonald offered Adams a divorce complaint in the name of Mrs. Cardinet. "You are a few seconds too late. Yours will have to be a cross-complaint," Adams told McDonald.

Cardinet, an oil salesman living at 1500 Fountain avenue, Alameda, charges that his wife is in love with Roland Henderson, 1159 Regent street, Alameda, a university student. He says he told Henderson to keep out of his home, and told his wife to stay away from Henderson, but that his wife clandestinely met Henderson on the street.

Cardinet asks custody of an infant son.

YOUTH CONFESSES SHOOTING OFFICER

MARYSVILLE, Dec. 11—A slip of the tongue led Joe Lopez, Mexican, 19 years old, to make a full confession of the attempted murder of Paul Ruckert, night watchman at the Western Pacific station here, on the night of July 15. It was made at a time when the authorities here were thinking seriously of releasing the man because finger prints taken by an expert on a boxcar he had entered did not correspond with the prints of Lopez taken in the city jail, where he was held a few days prior to the crime.

Lopez, who made a clean breast of the whole affair, was making way with an armful of pajamas when he was accosted by Ruckert. The Mexican shot and then fled. He was captured in Sacramento last month. He will be charged with an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

S. F. Tuberculosis Death Rate Falls

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11—San Francisco's death rate from tuberculosis has fallen off two-thirds in the past twenty years, because of the establishment here of the most efficient municipal tuberculosis bureau in the world, with the added aid of highly specialized free clinics and through the co-operation of the San Francisco Tuberculosis association, according to Dr. Philip King Brown, principal speaker at the Tuberculosis day exercises at the public health section of the San Francisco center. Present needs are a preventative for children, a children's tuberculosis ward on the roof of the San Francisco hospital and a sanatorium located outside the city exclusively for tubercular patients, Dr. Brown said.

New License Secured Day After Annulment

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11—Mrs. Mary Gay Worth, whose marriage to Oscar Schott, San Diego accountant, was annulled by Superior Judge Luddy at the county hall and procured a marriage license to wed Leonard Wray, Mrs. Worth, who gave her address as 55 Post street, secured an annulment on grounds of fraud. Wray is a local oil salesman, living at 836 Seventh street.

SCOUTMASTER UNIT IS ORGANIZED HERE

Organization of Santa Ana patrol, composed of scoutmasters of the Santa Ana district, was announced today by Boy Scout Executive Roland E. Dye. The organization was formed last night at a meeting of scoutmasters, held in the Masonic Log Cabin. Ray Adkinson, scoutmaster for Santa Ana Troop 9, was selected as leader of the new patrol.

According to Dye, this organization of men will hold monthly meetings and carry out the regular Boy Scout program. The Scout work will be done by these officials as a means of perfecting themselves in the branches of the work they are giving instructions to the boys.

"This new organization will serve to organize the men of the community into a body similar to the troops formed for the boys," Dye declared. Scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters and scout committeemen will be eligible to membership in this patrol. The county scout executive will act as scoutmaster for the new troop of adults.

"So far the first troop to be organized is composed of the leaders of scouting troops in Santa Ana district. The members of the new organization the Ray Adkinson, Troop 9; L. E. Baker, Troop 1; George Ravenscamp, Troop 2; W. V. Whitson, Troop 3; W. A. Palmer, Troop 4; the Rev. J. H. Hughes, Troop 6; G. W. Leo, Troop 10; the Rev. Moffett Rhodes, Troop 12; and the Rev. G. A. Taylor, Garden Grove Troop 2."

Building Work Is Begun On Mexican Catholic Edifice

Work was begun today on the new Mexican Catholic church on Third street between Grand avenue and McClay street. The contract had been awarded to J. W. Markel and Son, local builders.

The Rev. Father Sanchez, the pastor, and his building committee had hoped to build a $15,000 church and residence in the Spanish style of architecture, but being unable to obtain the necessary funds, decided to erect only the frame work at this time and finish as money becomes available. The present work will cost $5000.

The plans for the finished edifice is patterned after the new church just completed by the Catholics at Huntington Beach.

The contractors state that the present work will be completed and ready for use in forty-five days.

Suspect in Car Theft Case Taken in North

Orlan Baker, charged with grand larceny in connection with the ascertained theft of an automobile from William Fitcher of Orange, was held in jail today at El Centro, where he was arrested at the request of Sheriff Sam Jernigan. Jernigan expected to send a deputy today to bring Baker here.

Fitcher's car disappeared Saturday.

Kiwanis Election Is Set For Tomorrow

With the annual election of officers scheduled for tomorrow, it was expected today that there would be a full attendance of members at the meeting of the Kiwanis club at St. Ann's Inn tomorrow, according to R. L. Crawford, secretary.

At the same time Crawford stated

ed that there had been a change in the nominees, one of which was the substitution of the name of George R. Wells for that of A. J. Crookshank as one of the candidates for president of the club. Crookshank, Crawford said, had declined to permit his name to go before the club, because a press of business would not permit him serving in the capacity were he to be elected.

F. T. Smith and A. N. Zerman were added to the list of nominees, from which seven directors will be chosen.

Installation will take place on Thursday evening, December 27, when the club will entertain the ladies at a dinner and program, at St. Ann's Inn.

Alleged Slayer of Wife Wins Release; Mate Still Living

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Elgin Pittman, for whom a warrant charging wife murder was issued in Oregon some months ago, was free here today, and back again with the woman, very much alive, who he was accused of slaying.

Up in Richland, Ore., two old people, parents of Edna Rogers Pittman, the wife, were awaiting further word, and wondering whose was the corpse they buried last summer, believing it their daughter's.

Pittman was released last night on authority from Under-Sheriff Buffington, of Pendleton, Ore., following receipt of the pictures of the woman here. They were identified as photographs of the woman believed killed several months ago, when Mr. and Mrs. Rogers "identified" a body found floating in the Columbia river as their daughter.

outside the scheduled program. Raymer said that it was expected the attendance would reach 100.

FLEET DAY CAR RESERVATION FACTS TOLD

Reservations for the Chamber of Commerce excursion to San Pedro on the Pacific Electric Saturday afternoon to visit the United States battleships may be made up to Thursday evening, J. C. Metzgar, secretary, announced today.

Pointing out that fifty or more persons must deposit $1.35 for each ticket reserved, Metzgar said a special car will leave here at 12:30 p. m. and return between 6 and 7 p. m.

The trip, he said, is contingent upon fifty tickets being sold. Visiting hours on the ships will be from 2:30 to 5 p. m.

"Santa Ana Day," Metzgar said, "was made possible by the efforts of Francis C. Westgate, commanding officer third division, Naval Reserve, in co-operation with Commander Woodbine, Naval Reserve officer, second district of eleventh naval district.

"This is a very low round trip rate and immediate action will be necessary if the rate is obtained. Those desiring to go will deposit the amount of the ticket at the Chamber of Commerce. If fifty or more tickets are arranged for before Thursday evening the excursion rate will be available—otherwise the regular rate will have to be paid or local persons go by automobile."

Rich Illinois Clothier Is Divorce Defendant

ELGIN, Ill., Dec. 11.—Berna K. Cohen, wife of Isaac Cohen, wealthy clothing store and real estate owner of Elgin, has filed suit against her husband for divorce.

She charges him with cruelty. Complicating the divorce proceedings is the question of pre-nuptial agreement signed by the wife, in which she is said to have waived her dower rights in return for a lump payment of $100,000 from her husband.

The couple were married December 5, 1922, and separated October 23, 1923.

Stanley said this morning that three prizes have been offered. The first award will be $15; the second, $10, and the third $5.

All essays submitted to the judges must be sent in unsigned, the name to accompany the papers in a sealed envelope. When the papers are received at the Farm Bureau office they will be numbered. The authors of the papers will not be divulged until after the judges have made their decisions.

CINEMA CHIEFS PREDICT BUSY 1924 SEASON

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11.—Filmmakers face the coming year with confidence. Pessimism has found no nesting place in Hollywood.

Trying to find a motion picture producer who predicts anything but a successful 1924 for the cinema is an impossible task. All are busy planning next year's pictures while optimism prevails.

"Beginning with the new year the motion picture industry will have its greatest activity for many seasons," declared M. C. Levee, president of the United Studios. "The recent slump brought about by over-production of lavish pictures has resulted in a general house cleaning within the business. The cry of 'wolf' has now subsided and producers are planning an extensive program, starting January first."

Seasonal Curtailment
"Seasonal curtailment" is what Hollywood brands the present inactivity. It comes every year. Studio chiefs point out, only this fall it was given a bit more publicity than formerly.

"Pictures in 1924 will be well in advance of any preceding year in quality, but there will not be so many," predicted William Koenig, general production manager for Universal. "The demand for a finer type of films is greater than ever. Exhibitors want twelve-reel quality in seven or eight-reel length. Salaries? Yes, they will be reduced, lower than during the past period of extravagance, but more than during this fall's slackening."

Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, is now in New York, outlining with eastern officials the company's 1924 program. According to present plans, it will include a completed picture each week, as has been the past custom. Two companies are now busy at Lasky's while seven are scheduled to start "shooting" immediately after the New Year begins.

Running Full Time
The Goldwyn studio is running full time, with all stage space occupied. Others are busy, although taking time for annual inventories and plans for the next year. Only one, Warner Brothers, is closed, and that is for reorganization purposes, with activity scheduled to start within a month.

As long as the picture going public demands new films, Hollywood will produce them. That demand appears to be increasing, exhibitors declare. For example, in Hollywood, where the pictures are made, the second feature to be shown in one of Southern California's largest theaters since it opened almost eighteen months ago, has just been concluded. A new production had its world premiere last week, and they turned them away—at $5.50 per seat; surely a far cry from the old days of the Nickelodeon.

FINANCE FIRM HERE DECLARES DIVIDEND

Stockholders of the Orange County Home Builders' Finance corporation who have owned stock in the corporation since its organization June 17, 1923, will receive checks dividends for 4 1/2 per cent on their shares January 15, while others who purchased stock at a later date will receive dividends for amounts in proportion to the period of their holding, it was announced today by A. J. Sherer, president.

A dividend on the basis of 9 per cent per annum was authorized at a special meeting of stockholders Saturday, at the offices of the company in the Ramona building, the president said.

At the same time decision was made to offer a few more units for sale and to increase the number of officers, Sherer stating that more capital and more officers are necessary because of the rapid expansion of the company.

M. Eltiste of Orange, and C. R. Harrison were added to the list of officials, these being elected second and third vice-presidents, respectively.

"This company, like many others of similar nature, has made remarkable progress in a comparatively short time," said the president. "Its earnings, according to a chartered public accountant company of Los Angeles, are far in excess of required dividends."

Pointing out that the advisory board is composed of prominent business men of the county, Sherer said the direct management is by himself, Peter Palm, Harry D. Brisco, Eltiste and Harrison.

Automobile Mechanics Will Organize Union

Auto mechanics of Orange county will hold a special meeting at 8 o'clock tonight at the Labor Temple, 204 North Los Angeles street, Anaheim, for the purpose of establishing a local lodge to be affiliated with the international Association of Machinists, one of the largest organizations of the American Federation of Labor.

The object of the organization, according to C. G. Grow, representative of the International Association of Machinists, and C. Conkle, local organizer, is to promote the interests of the employees and employers and to establish practical efficiency and co-operation within the industry.

A special invitation has been extended to all employees and employers to attend the meeting, Grow said.

Kellogg's Bran is nature's relief from the terrors of constipation?

Never make light of constipation or any one of its symptoms—there is no telling what disease you may be heading into! The one thing to do—IMMEDIATELY—is to fight constipation to the last ditch! Not with pills or cathartics; they cannot give you lasting relief! Not with foods with a low bran content; they do not have the bran-bulk to do the work!

What you need, what will give you permanent relief is Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL BRAN! Kellogg's is scientifically prepared to relieve constipation. It will relieve the chronic case or the mild case. You need it, your family needs it!

But, you must eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—each day! At least two tablespoonsful; in chronic cases this amount with each meal! And, eating Kellogg's Bran is a delight rather than a hardship. It has a delicious, appealing nut-like flavor that wins the most fastidious appetite.

Every day when you eat Kellogg's Bran as a cereal, sprinkled on your favorite hot or cold cereal or cooked or mixed with hot cereals, think of the health every spoonful contains for you! Think how Kellogg's Bran is sweeping and cleansing the alimentary tract; how it is driving out the toxic poisons and freeing your system from dangers of dreaded diseases! Your physician will recommend it.

Kellogg's Bran is extra-delicious made into countless bakery batches. Recipes on every package.

All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran; it is also obtainable at first-class hotels and clubs in individual packages. Ask for it at your restaurant.

"THE MAIL MAN" OPENS AT PRINCESS TONIGHT

Emory Johnson, in his latest production, "The Mail Man" which will be the attraction at the Princess tonight, Wednesday and Thursday, has shown in prologue the entire evolution of our present postal system including some of the latest developments in the way of sea and air service.

In building up the present day efficiency of mail delivery, Ralph Lewis, the star, was called on to drive a shady, one-hoss delivery wagon, the method of distribution formerly typical of many of our rural communities.

"The Mail Man" will offer entertainment value of no uncertain interest to every one interested in Uncle Sam's big army of workers, as there are thrills galore, much interesting information of genuine value, and the full quota of romance mixed with the livelier moments in the household and daily grind of the mail worker.

"WOMAN-PROOF" DUE AT YOST TOMORROW

"Isaac Dirge." Sounds like a splendid name for an undertaker. Such is the role played by Bill Gonder in the picture, "Woman-Proof," which will be shown at the Yost theater beginning tomorrow.

Thomas Meighan is the star, ably supported by Lila Lee and a strong cast of prominent players, including John Sainpolis, Louise Dresser and Robert Agnew.

WILLIAM S. HART PICTURE ON WEST END SCREEN

The article below was written by William S. Hart who returns to the screen in "Wild Bill Hickok," now showing at the West End theater here.

"Folks, I'm glad to say: 'Howdy, friends,' and to grip you by the hand. It is one of the happiest events of my life. Particularly am I glad because I am able to appear before you in the role of one of the greatest Westerners that ever lived, Wild Bill Hickok."

"History don't tell you much about Wild Bill, and I'm plumb tickled that it's my job to do so. History has kind of passed Wild Bill up, but he wouldn't give a whoop because he was made of the kind of stuff that made the great West. The country that raised Wild Bill is sure proud of him, and to be able to portray for screen posterity this noble character is one achievement I've always longed for. Wild Bill Hickok was the fastest man 'on the draw' that ever lived, but that's the least of his fame. He was one of the civilizers of the frontier, a daring scout whose thrilling exploits are epic adventures, a fearless law-and-order man, whose bravery and uncanny skill with his six-gun, made him the nemesis of all evil-doers—in short, one of those he-men who made it possible for us folks to reap the fruits of our West today.

"In returning to the screen I sincerely hope to convey to you the great spirit of the country in which I was raised and which I love so well. I'm glad to get back, folks, because I've missed you a whole lot."

"P. S.—So has my little paint boss, and he's not letting me get away with anything. He's come back, too."

"IS DIVORCE A FAILURE" AT YOST TONIGHT

The entire Arthur F. Beck company producing "Is Divorce a Failure?" set sail on the S. S. Ruth Alexander to get necessary scenes and locations for this spectacular production which shows at the Yost theater tonight only.

The ship's passengers took such a keen interest in the work of the motion picture company that the editor of the "Daily Radio News" the paper published on board, enlightened their curiosity with the following story:

"Doubtless many of you are interested and would like to know a bit about the motion picture company aboard and the picture they are taking. They are making a special trip on here to get settings for a shipwreck and other ship scenes."

"The leading lady is Miss Leah Baird and it is her own company from the Thomas H. Ince studios at Culver City, and is owned by Arthur F. Beck. Mr. Beck is aboard making the trip with the company."

"Richard Tucker is the leading man, with Walter McGrail and Tom Santschi also taking leading parts. Miss Baird and Mr. Tucker are the man and wife in the story who have trouble and get a divorce. Their lawyer, unknown to each, sends the ex-husband and wife and her lover on a long sea voyage together."

TOTS' CHRISTMAS PARTY POSTPONED

Little tots at the Artesia school are to have their Christmas party Thursday, December 20, instead of Thursday of this week. The postponement was announced today when it became known that the Mexican school would continue one week after regular city school vacation had begun, to make up for time lost in October during walnut picking season.

High school girls who have been making dolls for the little girls, and gathering Christmas tree decorations for their plans, Miss Virginia Thatcher, president of the Girls' league, announced today.

The Day Nursery Christmas party has also been postponed, at the wish of the little folks, themselves and their party, which was to have been given by the Junior college Y. W. C. A. girls this week, will be planned for the day before Christmas. It will be under the direction of Miss Enid Twist.

Woman in Crash Here Shows No Improvement

Mrs. Maude Russell of Long Beach, who was injured in a collision between an automobile and a truck near Tustin last Friday night, was reported to be in an extremely critical condition today at the Community hospital. Following the development of pneumonia to complicate the situation in her case, slight hope was entertained for her recovery. In the wreck she sustained fractures of the skull, lower jaw and several ribs.

Local Oil Promoter Wins Delay in Hearing

Chris Nelson of Wintersburg, promoter of the Square Deal Oil syndicate, together with his associates, J. S. Gendron, George K. Nickerson and Webster Bush, all of Long Beach, today had gained a week's delay in proceedings brought against them in the United States district court at Los Angeles, where they are charged with using the mails to defraud.

Nelson and the others, in court yesterday, asked for another week's time in which to enter their pleas to the charges, which were filed in connection with affairs of the Square Deal syndicate.

Will Shows Woman's Estate Worth $5000

The will of the late Cora L. Matthews, who died in this city November 27, was on file today in the superior court here in connection with a petition by her son, Oscar L. Matthews Jr., asking that the will be probated.

The estate, consisting of property valued at $5,000 and situated at Huntington Beach, is divided among the surviving widower and four children. One-half, under the terms of the will, goes to the son, Oscar Matthews Jr.; the other half to be divided equally between the widower and three daughters, Mrs. Margaret Lee of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Ruth Ferguson and Mrs. Frances Prindle, both of Salyer.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA—PETROLEUM HEADQUARTERS

A very considerable share of the Southland's invested wealth, of her economic and industrial enterprise and employment — rises from the fact that the greatest oil fields in the world are here in Southern California.

Yet, as most people in the Southland know, not every oil promoter's "opportunity" is to be jumped at; not every oil derrick you see means a gusher or even a producing well; nor is "bargain" gasoline apt to be any more of a bargain than you pay for!

The oil industry requires more than just integrity of purpose — it requires the highest type of skilled engineers and scientists, backed by the most advanced research laboratories and refining equipment possible.

Hence, more often than not, Red Crown gasoline is selected by experienced motorists as the ONE to be counted on. It is refined by the Standard Oil Company at El Segundo, its large and completely equipped Southern California refinery.

"Red Crown" has been for years the recognized standard of dependability on the Pacific Coast. Look for the Red Crown sign before you fill.

M'CARTHY, WILLIAMS DISPUTE UNSETTLED

Major League Magnates to Resume Review of Case; Collins Trade Looms

By JAMES T. KOLBERT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Worn out by almost fifteen hours of continuous conferences, the national board of arbitration of professional baseball leagues adjourned at 4 o'clock this morning without announcing a decision in the dispute between William McCarthy and Harry Williams over the presidency of the Pacific Coast league.

J. H. Farrell, secretary of the board, said that the body would resume discussions around noon. A decision may be handed down late today or tonight, he said.

While the conference room was sealed and inquisitive persons were shooed from the doors, it was manifest that an extremely bitter fight was on.

The board went into session early in the afternoon on Monday and the McCarthy-Williams case was called almost immediately. Summed up, McCarthy contended that the voting ousting him and seating Williams was illegal. Williams argued the vote was legal in every respect.

Argue Until Midnight

Six lawyers represented the contestants and final arguments in the case were not concluded until after midnight. The board conferred until 4 o'clock and decided to sleep on the matter. Under the so far placid surface of the Major league waters a battle is brewing that may erupt with a crash tomorrow.

The case of Urban Shocker, of St. Louis, contains the dynamite. Phil Ball, president of the club, announced that he would keep Shocker in the face of the latter's demand to be made a free agent. Shocker has applied to Commissioner Landis for a ruling to free him from St. Louis.

Shocker argues that the club nullified his contract by inflicting an unjustified penalty on him—slapping a suspension on him because he insisted on having Mrs. Shocker accompany him East.

If Landis rules with Shocker, the explosion may follow. Baseball sharks hold that Landis cannot do otherwise under the circumstances.

Ban Johnson, president of the American league, does not feel any too friendly toward Landis. Johnson feels that Landis has overstepped his powers and resents encroachment upon American league territory.

Confers With Johnson
President Heydler of the National league, was understood to have conferred with Johnson in the latter's home. What this conference portends no one knows.

The two Major leagues will meet in joint conference tomorrow. The ivory hunters attracted to the annual meeting of the Majors and Minors are doing a thriving business involving millions of dollars and scores of stars—in conversation, at least.

One of the few facts is the willingness of Frank Chance, new leader of the Chicago White Sox, to dispose of Eddie Collins, peerless second baseman. Collins, at his home in Lansdowne, Pa., expressed surprise at Chance's announcement. Clark Griffith of the Washington club, may make an offer for Collins to manage the Senators. He conferred with Chance last night.

Trojans, Nebraska To Battle on Grid Nov. 29 Next Fall

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—The University of Southern California football team will meet the Nebraska cornhuskers here on November 29, next year, according to an agreement between the two schools announced today.

The Trojans will play a return game at Lincoln, Neb., Thanksgiving day, 1925. The decision, which will make the Nebraska game the big one of the year in U. S. C.'s schedule, will force cancellation of the scheduled contest with Montana, it was said.

CRIPPLED PADDOCK RETURNS TO SOUTH

PASADENA, Dec. 11.—Charles Paddock, the world's fastest sprinter, was limping around the parental home today on a pair of crutches. Paddock arrived home yesterday afternoon, returning from Burlington, Iowa, where he suffered a muscle fracture of the left leg. He was optimistic about the future, and expressed the belief that his accident has not balked his chances of starring for America in the coming Olympic Games.

COLISEUM REFUSED FOR OLYMPIC GAME

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11.—Possibility of the Haskell Indians meeting the Olympic club football team, of San Francisco, here on Christmas was considered slight today with the announcement that the teams will not be permitted to play in the Los Angeles Coliseum. The Olympic club accepted the bid for the game with the provision the Coliseum be the scene of the encounter. Coliseum officials, however, have determined there will be no Christmas game there which might detract from the New Year's fest in Pasadena.

The Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, supporting the contest, may obtain another gridiron and still decide to hold the event, it is said.

Fights and Fighters

PHILADELPHIA.—Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion, won the judges' decision over Patsy Wallace, Philadelphia, in ten rounds.

and said he "may talk business." "Kid" Gleason is discussed as another managerial possibility for Washington. At the same time, Detroit is understood to be willing to take the "Kid" as assistant to Ty Cobb.

"Connie" Mack of the Athletics negotiated the one big deal of the day by taking Max Bishop, star second baseman, from Baltimore. The consideration involved was not given. This revived talk of a deal between Mack and Cobb involving the transfer of Jimmy Dykes, the Athletics' flashy second baseman, to Detroit.

BILL MALLORY, YALE GRID CAPTAIN, FAILED TO MAKE GRADE AS HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETE

WASHINGTON-NAVY GRID TILT ASSURED

Athletic Officials of Two Schools to Handle All Financial Details

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—The University of Washington will meet the Naval Academy eleven at Pasadena New Year's day.

This was assured today following a prolonged conference here yesterday between athletic officials from the western and eastern institutions at which all details were arranged and a contract drawn and signed.

The agreement reached provides substantially that Washington and the Naval Academy take over the Tournament of Roses bowl on a rental basis with full charge of all details in connection with the game, the sale of tickets, choice of officials and pass privileges.

The Tournament of Roses association will receive a heavy percentage with Washington and the Navy awarded adequate guarantees.

Some trouble was reported over the pass privilege consideration since the Navy's requirements will be heavy but this was reported to be ironed out.

Darwin Meisnest, graduate manager, and Professor Leslie J. Ayer, faculty advisor, represented Washington; Commanders McCandless and Washburn handled details for the Navy. Leslie B. Henry, chairman of the football committee, represented the Tournament of Roses association.

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Eddie Anderson of Chicago outpointed Jimmy Russo of St. Louis in eight rounds here last night. They are bantams.

By JOE WILLIAMS.

Bill Mallory is a name to conjure with in college football. The nation esteems him as one of the outstanding players of the year. To Yale and to Yale men he ranks with the immortals. What Coy was to the victorious Blue of another decade "Memphis Bill" is to the triumphant Elis today.

An inspiring leader, a magnificent fighter, a great player, the southern boy, playing a backfield position, has been an important factor in putting Yale football back on the map.

It was probably fitting that this quiet spoken, well-built blond young man should be the captain of the first unbeaten team the New Haven university has produced in years.

And yet Mallory was not always a great foot. A player, in his home town the citizens can recall when he was not a football player at all—except at heart. Mallory has always had the athletic spark, and the competitive urge, but in his younger days he had neither the skill nor the power to back them up.

Fired With Ambition.
Mallory, who is now hailed as the greatest defensive fullback the game has ever developed, as well as one of the finest pass kickers in the sport, this same Mallory wasn't good enough to play on his own home-town school team, a matter of some five or six years ago.

Mallory did his "prepping" at Memphis university school, a school which annually turns out crackerjack kid elevens. Mallory came out for the team, a tall, scrawny, lanky lad with a keenness for the fight and an irrepressible ambition to make the team.

They put him on the scrubs. Day after day this youngster, who was destined later to become the south's most brilliant contribution to the eastern gridirons, was out battling against the varsity, doing his heroic best to win a favorable gesture from the coach.

Couldn't Make Grade.
But somehow or other Mallory just couldn't make the grade, and all the time he was at the local school he had to be content with a place in the scrubs' lineup and a seat on the varsity bench when the big games were being played.

It was the same at baseball. Mallory had the idea that he was a catcher and he tried for that berth on the varsity nine, kept trying all during his stay here. Either the opposition was most formidable or else Mallory was somewhat deficient. Anyway, he didn't get very far as a catcher on the school team.

Naturally when he went away, and eventually landed at Yale, his old buddies at home didn't expect he would exactly burn up the athletic world, certainly not as a football player or a baseball player.

Named Yale Skipper.
But strange things happen in this world. Not only did Mallory immediately make the Yale football varsity but he promptly became the most important cog in the whole Yale team, and finally was elected captain.

Moreover, Mallory became one of the greatest catchers who ever played on the Yale varsity, and last spring he was named captain of the Yale nine. One of John McGraw's scouts is said to have made him an offer to try out with the Giants, an offer which was not considered by the Yale athlete.

BLUE ISLAND, Ill.—Bud Taylor, Terra Haute bantam, will meet John McCoy, Cleveland, in a ten-round bout here December 21.

GOSSIP of the RING

Harry Wills has been frequently and consistently criticized. It has been said of him that he was holding out for the loser's end of a fight with Dempsey, that he had turned down more than $100,000 in business last season because he did not care to risk the loss of his prestige with any dangerous contenders and that he had gone back until it was doubtful that if he would be able to win from a good opponent where the rules against "holding and hitting" were enforced.

This last opinion still holds good. It is thought that Wills is not the fighter he once was, granting that he once was a great fighter. It is only natural that at his age he could not remain idle and out of practice and retain the peak of his form.

It is still believed that he is not as effective when he cannot hold and hit as he is when he can snake out his left hand behind the neck of his opponent and pull him into a right hand punch. As far as that goes, no boxer can be as effective when he has to stick to the rules, but Wills is more inclined to foul tactics than any other contender for the heavyweight championship.

But as to the other things said about his sincerity in seeking the heavyweight championship or in proving his claim to the first shot at Jack Dempsey, it is sincerely desired to take those things back. It is not appropriate to say that those criticisms are retracted by the desire to do justice to Harry Wills, because it should not have to be said. Justice is the first requisite of a critic who would like to have his criticisms respected. Fairness is primarily essential in anyone who desires to be manly and a good sport with it.

So, it is with pleasure, principally because Wills is too good a sport to ask it and for the reason that he is so fair-minded that he will sacrifice his own feelings to grant the right of others to their own opinion, that those previous statements are contradicted and that they are amended to state in fact that Harry Wills is willing to do anything asked of him to prove his right to meet Dempsey.

Several weeks ago a committee in charge of a Christmas benefit fund in New York was trying to arrange a card for a boxing show that would be the best attraction available.

At the close of the outdoor season when he had finally become convinced that his chance for getting into the ring with Dempsey had blown up, Wills said that he was going back to fighting and that he would take all comers.

Wills perhaps is the best card in New York against any opponent outside of the "set-up class."

The committee approached Wills and asked if he would be willing to fight the star number on the card.

He replied that he was willing. With some doubts the committee then asked him what fighter he would be willing to take.

"Anyone," he replied. When the names were called for him—"Firpo, Gibbons, Renault, Siki, Godfrey," he broke in and said:

"Yes, or any other one you can think of, go get him!"

Figuring that the biggest part of their job had been accomplished, the committee set about getting one of that list of fighters who had been yelling that they were willing to take Wills—and not one of them would listen to an offer.

GENE TUNNEY KEEPS LIGHT-HEAVY TITLE

New Yorker Punishes Greb With Body Bombardment; Decision Just

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Sports who took a heavy fall on wrong way bets were clamoring loudly today for the official house to tumble in on the two judges and the referee who gave Gene Tunney the decision over Harry Greb after a 15-round contest last night in Madison Square Garden.

Tunney retained the title as the American light-heavyweight champion on a just and meritorious decision.

Announcement of the decision was followed by a long demonstration of disapproval by a small part of the 11,000 fans who saw the bout and several tried to get into the ring to punch Joe Humphries, the announcer.

Greb Holds On.
If points were awarded for holding and slapping on the back and shoulders, Greb won by a mile but points are not scored that way. From the third round on when Tunney began to punish Greb with punches to the body Harry did nothing but hold for his life.

He led with wild swings that generally bounded off Tunney's shoulders. Then he would embrace Tunney and the referee would almost have to blast him loose.

Tunney was in splendid shape. Greb was overweight. Sensing this, Tunney confined his attack to the body and he took most of the circus gymnastics out of the mid-weight champion.

Tunney's Work Spotty.
Tunney's work was spotty, however. He showed the effects of having been out of the ring too long. His timing was poor and his direction faulty. Had he been tuned up on a good stiff fight he might have stopped Greb any time after the fourth round.

The light-heavyweight champion had a clear margin on points. In the semi-final bout Roland Todd, British middleweight champion, made his American debut and lost a 10-round decision to Tommy Lawbrar, Philadelphia, who had ten pounds on him.

The decision was terrible. The worst that should have been given the Englishman was a draw. Todd is by far the best looking British fighter who has shown here in a long while.

Permit Champ to Box
St. Louis Exhibition
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 11.—Jack Dempsey will spar three rounds with one of his boxing partners here this evening, Governor Arthur M. Hyde's orders to the contrary notwithstanding.

The governor lost in the second round when the state supreme court at Jefferson City unanimously denied Attorney General J. W. Barrett a writ of prohibition requested by the governor of the purpose of nullifying a circuit court injunction halting the police from interfering.

"The Fool"

By Channing Pollock

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Dilly Gilliam, her mother, Mrs. Gilliam, with Lella Thornbury, a divorcee, are trimming a Christmas tree in the Church of the Nativity, a fashionable church of New York. Mrs. J. Orson Tice, a society leader, comes in with Jerry Goodkind, a man-out-town, who is interested in the Reverend Daniel Gilchrist, the assistant rector of the church, in bad favor because of his radical sermons.

Dr. Wadham, the rector, drops in to attend a regular meeting of the wardens. Charles Benfield declares that either he or Gilchrist must leave the church. Jerry proposes marriage to Clare.

"In addition to his salary?"

"Yes, I could understand it if he'd spent his money on himself, but he hasn't. He's given it away to the church's fat, gay, my first partner, and I got the boy in here, and I feel responsible for him. As a trustee, I can refuse to turn over another penny of his principal, and, as senior warden, I can demand his resignation from this church. But I want him to have every chance. Tell him he'll get a grip on himself and reconsider tomorrow's sermon."

This time it was "Charlie" Benfield who interrupted. The chattering shadows of a twilight church did not soften the flinty features of the man. He was of the type that is known as self-made. He adopted arrogance and insolence to hide his glaring lack of education, refinement and aspiration.

The third time Dr. Wadham looked at his hat he removed it. "Hello, George!" he greeted. "How'dy, doctor. Am I late?"

"We've been waiting for you," said Dr. Wadham nervously. He was always uneasy when Benfield was about. "Haven't we better get started? I'm sure you're going to discuss Mr. Gilchrist?"

"We're not," Benfield disagreed emphatically. "We've been discussing long enough. All I got to say now is: Gilchrist leaves this church or I do."

"Now, wait a minute," said the senior warden calmly. "Isn't that a little mandatory?"

"I don't know what it is, but it goes," continued Benfield positively. "I've worked hard all my life, and now this fellow gets up and tells me what I've worked for is nothing, that I'm nothing, and that all my ideas are wrong."

"Wait a minute, Charlie," interrupted Goodkind. "That's not the tone to take to Dr. Wadham. We all feel that Gilchrist has gone too far and we're agreed—"

"Does he preach tomorrow?" Benfield shouted.

"We're agreed that if he insists upon preaching about the strike—"

"He goes!"

"All right. And if he don't insist?"

"He stays."

"And I go!"

Benfield's voice of wrath had drowned the opening and closing of the door. Back to the panel, Daniel Gilchrist squared his shoulders.

They were broad shoulders, and they carried him through many a brick wall football line in his college days. At 23 he was still trim and fit. This was partially due to the self-denial one read in his slender, ascetic face.

Even in the shadow his smile was visible. It lighted his eyes with good humor. They were honest eyes, with strength and zeal in their fire. There was nothing forbidding about his figure. Indeed, there was an empty, clean sympathy which caught and held, first, the attention, then the deepest interest.

Benfield had thrust his hat back on his head.

"I go, I tell you," he blustered. "You can decide which is the most valuable to the church. It ain't big enough for Gilchrist and me."

Daniel stepped forward quietly. He was smiling.

"A church that isn't big enough for two little men, Mr. Benfield," he said simply, "must be somewhat crowded for God."

Dismissed

Benfield turned on the advancing figure savagely. A torrent of vituperation surged through his brain. But somehow the tranquility of the figure before him disarmed him completely. His attack became nothing more than a scowl and when this met a smile his rout was complete. He stormed past Gilchrist and the slam of the door a moment later was the only audible indication of his fire.

"Mr. Benfield is a little—ah—a little—" soothed Dr. Wadham, rubbing his hands uneasily.

"Yes," said Daniel, "a little." His face still gloved from the cold outside. Goodkind picked up his hat and sauntered toward him.

Pneumonia weather, Daniel, he advised in a fatherly tone. "Where's your overcoat?"

"Outside," was the response.

Death Takes Woman

At Daughter's Home

FULLERTON, Dec. 11.—Mrs. Mary Bush, 73, died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rex Bradley, 135 West Whiting avenue, at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Her death was caused by heart trouble.

Mrs. Bush had been a very active worker in the Christian church of Fullerton since she came here from Anaheim three years ago. For thirty-five years she had been a resident of Orange county living most of the time in Anaheim where her husband and two sons were buried. The family came from Missouri.

Mrs. Bush is survived by James and Lee Bush, her sons of Hoskins, Oregon; Mrs. Leona Floyd of Santa Ana; Mrs. Bertha Denyes of Fullerton; Mrs. Mabel Wurdinger, Costa Mesa; Mrs. Grace Stevens of Seal Beach; her daughters, Mrs. Services will be held at McAnay's chapel Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Reverend Walter B. Thornton of the Fullerton Christian church will read the services, and interment will be in Anaheim.

OPEN NEW OFFICE

FULLERTON, Dec. 11.—George L. Story and Harry F. Dierker, members of the Anaheim firm of Dierker and Story, have opened offices in Fullerton at 403 Chapman building, where they will deal in real estate, insurance and investments. Mr. Story will manage the Fullerton office, while Mr. Dierker will remain in Anaheim. The firm has been appointed building manager for the recently completed Chapman building.

THREE ONE ACT PLAYS GIVEN AT SCHOOL

Fullerton Drama People Are Well Received In Clever Program

FULLERTON, Dec. 11.—Three one-act plays were given by the Fullerton Community Players association last night, in the high school auditorium.

The high school band opened the program with several numbers played in a very finished manner, directed by E. B. Tozier. "The Christmas play," "The Beautiful Story" by Percival Wilde, followed, directed by Miss Marjorie Foskett.

Miss Elizabeth Tohill, dramatic teacher in the high school, presented members of her senior high school class in "Nevertheless," and a delightful comedy "The Pot-boiler" was directed by Miss Anita Sheppard. Miss Pauline Sweet gave a Hungarian dance selection, accompanied by the piano by Miss Alla Bollen. Miss Agnes Ginter, violinist, was accompanied by her sister, Miss Isabel Ginter.

Second Apple Crop In 68 Years Is Yielded By Trees

FULLERTON, Dec. 11.—For the first time in his 68 years of experience as a rancher, Dr. W. V. Washburn is preparing to market a second crop of apples from the 18 trees of the winter banana variety he has on his ranch at Yorba Linda.

After he had picked the regular fall crop the latter part of September, Mrs. Washburn says the trees started to bloom. The second crop of apples is almost as large as the first, and the fruit is fully matured to a standard size.

School Nears Completion

The $200,000 grammar school at Huntington Beach is expected to be ready for classes by the first of the year according to the plans of building contractors. The building contains about forty rooms. Work on the exterior of the building is nearly completed while workmen are at present engaged on the finishing work on the interior.

The building will take care of the kindergarten department, at the present time housed in temporary frame houses on the school grounds.

More Territory At Yorba Linda Leased To Petroleum Men

FULLERTON, Dec. 11.—Sixty acres of wildcat territory, one- and one-half miles southeast of Yorba Linda, has just been leased for oil drilling purposes by the Russell Petroleum Company. Drilling will begin within ninety days, according to the agreement made with land holders, it was reported. The territory is in line with the original C. C. Chapman lease, where the first gusher in that field was brought in.

Fullerton business men and landowners who are interested in the new leased territory are Stein, Hoppe and Hax, hardware and grocery dealers, Phil W. Damon of West Brookdale, A. J. Olson, William Bertrams, J. E. Wright, Dr. O. E. Smith and Mr. Reese. The land is at present devoted to citrus culture.

Arrange the letters shown (above) into four lines. Through each line distribute the letter A wherever necessary and you will form the names of four states, territories or countries of America. The letter A is the only vowel needed and it will appear thirteen times.

Yesterday's answer:
To escape from the forty-foot tower with a twenty-foot rope was not a difficult matter. The prisoner unwound the strands of the rope, which gave him two twenty-foot ropes, each more than sufficient to bear his weight. By knotting the ends of the two ropes, he formed one long rope almost forty feet in length, with which he made his escape.

EVENING SALUTATION

O! Lady, we receive but what we give.
And in our life alone doth nature live;
Ours is her wedding garments, ours her shroud!
—Coleridge.

TREAT IT AS POISON

No one can have any question as to how the buyer of bootleg stuff ought to regard it. He ought to look upon it as likely to be poison; it may bring blindness or it may kill him.

And with all the publicity that has been given to the poisonous nature of a large share of bootlegged booze, the buyer must know that he is taking chances. He knows that the safe thing for him to do is to leave the stuff strictly alone.

In the courts of this county today is a case in which the law is endeavoring to fix guilt of manslaughter upon those who sold bootleg liquor to a man. The man died; the doctors said he died from the booze he had bought that night.

The Register has no desire to try this case in its columns. Whatever evidence there is obtainable will be presented, and we know, the case will be decided on the law and the facts.

But this case may serve as a warning. Those who buy contraband booze—it is all "guaranteed good stuff," even the worst of it—take their chances. The man who sells it despite the law should know that what he sells is not poison. But he is a lawbreaker, and he wouldn't be selling the stuff, and if he is a lawbreaker his regard for the welfare of the fools to whom he sells is measured only by the coin he can get out of them. The bootlegger takes a chance on going to prison; the man to whom he sells takes a chance of dreary years of blindness if not of going to an early grave.

The sooner bootleggers learn that they are responsible under the law for the poison they sell, the better it will be for the misguided persons who are his patrons and who make him possible.

GOD BLESS YOU, JOHN!

Yesterday many Santa Anans read, with tears in their eyes, the story of the burning of the new home of Mr. and Mrs. John Steven McGroarty, in the Verdugo hills, last Sunday morning. Only the day before had the home been dedicated to community service for the present and as a children's home in the future.

Of course it wasn't merely that so much building material and workmanship had been destroyed, nor solely that our friends had sustained a heavy monetary loss, nor even only that a structure of beauty and beneficence had been laid waste. Grievous and regrettable as such destruction and loss and wastage are, they do not wring our hearts with pain or dim our eyes with tears. Especially when affecting people, like the McGroarty's, whose sense of values is not primarily or in major proportion concerned with the material, these things are of comparatively small importance and of relatively ephemeral consequence. But when we think of love's labor lost—if it ever can be lost—when we measure by our own highest and best aspirations the hopes and ambitions and ideals and visions that were builded into that house, our only consolation is found in the knowledge that the hearts and brains and souls that conceived and executed it are still quick in the mortal mould we know and love, capable and willing to do it all over again.

It is sincerely to be hoped that Mr. and Mrs. McGroarty will permit their thousands of friends all over California to have some part in the labor of love and service that will be theirs in the rebuilding that will begin at once.

UNPROFITABLE FARMING

American wheat-growers have had a hard time lately, and deserve sympathy and any reasonable help, but it does not follow that they themselves are altogether blameless or without means of self-help.

The Woodland, Cal., Mail, speaking of local farming conditions, says:

"Yolo county is one of the big grain producing counties of California. Grain is grown here, not because it is the profitable crop to grow, nor because it is the only crop to grow, but because it was profitable 40 or 60 years ago.

"It may be a good thing for Yolo county that a crisis has come in the grain industry. Every acre of this land can be irrigated and made to produce alfalfa to be turned into milk, butter and cheese, at much greater profit to the land owners, and the grain crisis will help to bring that about."

The same comment might apply in hundreds of other American communities.

A business expert remarks that the average wheat-grower works on his crop three months of the year, and many farmers raise nothing but wheat. It is hardly fair for such farmers to expect as large a return for their effort and investment as others who do a more intensive kind of agricultural work, like truck-raising or dairying or who raise mixed crops requiring their attention throughout the year.

Neither is it possible to overlook the fact that failures in farming are probably no more frequent than failures in business, and are often due to the same cause—unfitness for the occupation, or a lack of intelligent use of opportunity.

Wheat growing sections all over the country are turning their hopes toward other crops. It is not urged that any great areas be taken away from wheat, but it is urged that in those sections where other crops can be grown that the value of a diversity of crops be emphasized. Orange county is an example of a county that maintains a high average of prosperity and activity on its farms and in orchards. Diversity of crops has meant and will always mean a great deal to this county. The Woodland Mail is right; if Yolo county will use some of its wheat acreage for other crops, Yolo county will be better off.

FEASIBLE SMOKE ABATEMENT

One city which is fighting the smoke evil reports that measurable progress has been made, but that the financial damage through unnecessary smoke is still $12 a year per capita.

The railroad and steamship lines touching the city are co-operating with the local smoke commission to reduce the outpouring of soot from their soft-coal burners. Firemen and engineers who have failed to take proper measures against smoke have been arrested with salutary effect.

Power plants and metallurgical furnaces are pretty well under control. The heating plants of the city appear to be the worst remaining offenders. If a stack smokes for three minutes or more the plant owner is compelled to submit a statement that fires were being started or furnaces cleaned. Otherwise a violation is charged.

Smoke in residence sections has been increasing in many cities in recent years. It presents a serious problem.

Yet there is one fact which has been demonstrated again and again wherever smoke abatement has come to civic attention and action. It is possible to end the smoke nuisance. It is also feasible, economical and healthful. It is a winning fight and not a losing one.

Readers of "Dr. Doolittle's Postoffice" know that that ingenious little gentleman stamped out diseases in his community by flavoring the glue on the backs of postage stamps with medicines. That's not quite the way the Red Cross Christmas seals work to stamp out tuberculosis, yet every purchaser of such seals may know that he is contributing his pennies or dollars to the eradication of the white plague.

Professionalism in Football

New York Herald

Professor Stewart Patton of Princeton University predicts the abolition of college football within a few years unless a way is found to kill the semi-professionalism which he thinks is the game's greatest danger.

Within the last few years increased interest in the game and in sporting spectacles generally has introduced a new element in college football, and that is the scale on which it is conducted. The commercial aspect of the game has grown tremendously. More and more money has been spent on salaries for coaches, until the football coach is often the best paid man in the university, not even excepting the president.

The practice of maintaining paid coaches is not of itself a danger to the game. Coaches have been employed to direct college crews for many years, yet college rowing remains the most purely amateur of undergraduate sports.

But there are other practices which do hurt football and endanger the future of the game. There is still need to work against the practice of giving financial assistance to players. It would be better for football, too, if the commercial side of the game were not so much emphasized. Big gate receipts are not in harmony with the spirit of amateur sport, but it is difficult to see how business and sport in this case are to be divorced. Football receipts help to maintain other sports; they pay for the transportation of squads of coaches and players and managers from one university to another. They pay the coaches' salaries.

These are the things that are dangerous for football rather than the loss of undergraduate authority about which Dr. Patton is concerned, although complete control by undergraduates of their own sports is the idea advocated by some. There is still another danger, and that is the degree to which football has come to fill the undergraduate mind in the opening months of the college year. Its importance has undoubtedly become exaggerated, and growing public interest has contributed much to that exaggeration. It might help football if fewer intercollegiate games were played within the university. The practice of using substitutes in preliminary games so that a strong team may be presented in the classic matches does not help the amateur spirit. Most of the colleges have one or two rivals of long standing, and annual games with them should be enough to keep interest in the sport keen. There is no reason why the colleges should satisfy public interest and alumni interest in football if by so doing they are working injury to themselves.

Restoring Youth a Delusion

Kansas City Star

Perpetual youth was a dream of man long before Ponce de Leon set out on his famous expedition. And the search for youth still is on. Will it be rewarded? Has medical science yet devised a means of restoring youth? The Journal of the American Medical Association has some enlightening, if rather depressing, comment on the question. The Journal thus concludes an account of some recent unsuccessful experiments upon rats:

"This work would seem to confirm the impression now prevailing that the various rejuvenation experiments constitute at best only a temporary stimulus and that the inevitable result is relapse, if not perhaps a shortening of life because of additional burdens thrown on a senescent organism."

Is the search to end in despair? Hardly. Science is not through with the problem. But whatever science may be able to show or do in the future there is the encouraging thought that the individual, within reasonable limits, has the matter in his own hands. The average human life has been lengthened by about twenty years in the last century, most of the progress in this direction having been made in the last forty or fifty years. In most cases, whoever will partake of longer life by the observance of fairly simple requirements. And there is further progress ahead in this direction.

There is this consideration, too: Youth, if not to be regained, may at least be maintained well beyond the traditional limit. A mind open to new ideas and a spirit of hope are possible to all, regardless of years. An individual active in the busy affairs of the world has continuous possibilities of growth.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

HALF THE JOB

I am often asked if I believe in the use of purgatives. I might just as well be asked "Should a drowning man be pulled out of the water?"

There are times when an immediate effective purge is absolutely essential, just in the same way that the sewage system is sometimes flushed by the city authorities.

But that this should be a frequent necessity is absolutely wrong insofar as that body of yours is concerned.

What happens when a purgative is taken? The whole intestine is flushed out and the blood gives up considerable of its richness also.

Now this is where the mistake comes in.

You immediately begin to eat again, and usually of the same things that made the purgative necessary. In a short time, a couple of days, perhaps a week another purgative is necessary and you are at the same old routine.

Now the trouble is that you only do half the job. When you have rid your system of excess waste material and often also of good material in the blood; your thought should be to build up your blood again gradually.

What do I mean? You should eat nourishing food, with some roughage in it, like whole wheat bread, root vegetables, and a small quantity of meat or eggs to ensure richness.

Next make the body function by taking some exercise. If this exercise can be taken outside where the oxygen of the air can burn things up better, you are going to be sure of purer blood.

During holiday times, and days when you feast it would appear that you must eat twice as much as usual. You sit around too full for comfort or effort, and wonder why you feel so miserable.

Now there's just one point to this. If you should take a purgative remember that the blood must be further renovated and renewed by good food, exercise, and as much as you can get of the sunshine and fresh air.

If you will not take other exercise, in any case, get outdoors and take a brisk walk two or three times a day.

Higher Physical Standards

From the Pittsburgh Sun

The fact that the average freshman in an eastern university has gained six and one-half pounds in weight and two tenths of an inch in height since the war has been given a prominent place in the news columns the last few days. This display is no doubt justified. A steady increase in stature and brawn by class after class during the last five years must appear to many readers as a gratifying surprise and therefore worthy the prominence given it.

But to the observer of recent college development and ideals the physical improvement of the classmen is just what was to be expected. One reason for it is clear enough. Athletics are taking each year a more prominent place in college life. This means an increased demand for husky youths to maintain or, if possible, to advance the institution's athletic standing. The supply seldom fails. Owing to the wide publicity given games between rival colleges in all sections of the country, recruits are easily found and more and more sturdy boys, who once might have sought jobs in the mills or on the farms, know that a career awaits them at the university if they can make a showing on the high school team.

At the same time a more serious contribution of the high schools to student physical prowess must not be overlooked. The gymnasium and the pool, comparatively recent developments, have done much to strengthen the bodies of students generally. The athletic field is merely the spectacular show ground. Back of it are hours of energetic physical training by all students. It is sometimes said that the chief exercise of the college boy is cheering in the bowl, but that is far from true insofar as the better high schools are concerned. The physical education they supply is in no small degree responsible for the gain in weight and stature found in college populations.

Worth While Verse

WHEN EARTH LIFTS SKYWARD

Across the shining meadows of the dawn,
Through non-hours, when the day strides, great and tall,
Across the hills that clasp the setting sun,
I hear you call.

In the still night when all the tenanted
Soul knows the stary bow of opening space,
And brims with bright invisible loveliness,
I see your face.

And when the earth lifts skyward, and the sky
Lowers, to rain the peril of its bliss,
Until the heart breaks with a golden cry,
I know your kiss.

The President's Message

Press Comment

Visalia Delta.—While President Coolidge's message to Congress will not raise any pitch of enthusiasm, it will meet the approval of most members of his party because of its conformity with party precedents and its careful, sane discussion of public issues, and generally excellent recommendations.

Republicans, however, while they may be deprived of inspiring issues, will not be forced to make apologies or explanations for Mr. Coolidge. The party will enter the national combat in a strong position, no matter who the standard-bearer may be.

The recommendations of Mr. Coolidge, if reflected in legislation by Congress, will in the main be helpful and valuable. It is not likely that the present Congress will act on the world court plan, with the elections in the offing. There will be a fight over the bonus, and the Mellon tax reduction plan, offered by Secretary Mellon and endorsed by the President, will open up a veritable Pandora's box of legislative difficulties. The bonus is bound to cause a radical change in the treasury estimates of reductions, with corresponding effects on the schedules proposed by Mr. Mellon.

Probably the farmer class will be the most disappointed with the message. It holds out very little hope of relief through government action under Mr. Coolidge. In the final analysis, the message of the President will earn the respect of the nation. Whether it will convince Republicans that Coolidge is the man to lead in the lists against the Democrats remains to be seen. The Delta will prefer Hiram W. Johnson of California, but it holds Mr. Coolidge in such high esteem that it will be able sincerely to support him if he receives the party nomination.

COMMENDS MESSAGE

San Francisco Chronicle.—In form the message of President Coolidge is a model for all who have occasion to prepare state documents. In matter its sound common sense, humanitarian feeling, sympathy with nations less fortunate than we, patriotic appreciation of our duties as a great nation and judicious attitude on all domestic questions it will commend itself to the approval of every American citizen whose opinion has value.

On every highly important topic, and, above all, on every controversial topic, all may know precisely where President Coolidge stands. There is not the slightest doubt in a single case. In every case one may find a specific statement, having but one possible meaning, with which to agree or from which to dissent.

CHARACTER IS SHOWN

Stockton Independent.—The issues of the campaign are definitely drawn. Even more important, the character of Coolidge is indelibly limned—clear-thinking, straight-speaking, informed, embodying the best traditions of American life and character, showing a kindly human side and a humanitarian spirit that embraces all humanity, but withal unyielding in mental and moral integrity.

CALLS MESSAGE STRONG

Modesto News.—The message is a strong one and after reading it I would want to swear to it, I am sure. Its sort of thing I might see without attaching enough interest to the site to even remember I saw it, he said.

Well, I've looked in 90 thousand hundred places and I can find it, Gladdis said, and pop jumped up saying, Yee gods, I'm going to take myself to the movies, if there's one thing I can stand it's a million people around me all exag-ggerating.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 17—OLD KING COLE TRIES TO GUESS

"Make way for the Riddle Lady!" called Humpty Dumpty. "She's coming to ask another riddle."

Nancy and Nick ran to open the door for her coach, and out she stepped while all the Riddle Land people crowded around to hear. This was the riddle she asked:

"Who sits in a room
And never moves
But hisses, roars and sputters.
He has four legs,
Yet not an arm,
And a dozen doors and shutters."

"He's black as coal
And yet at times,
He turns a fiery red.
He eats great chunks
Of coal or wood,
He's certainly well fed."

"He's very smart
For he can cook
A meal to suit the king.
Can roast a duck,
Or bake a cake,
And never spoil a thing."

"He smokes a pipe
That's thick and long,
And stretches to the wall,
But drops his ashes
In a pan
And makes no dirt at all."

"If he's not fed
He catches cold
And has an awful chill,
And has an awful chill."

Then matches are His medicine,
And save a doctor bill.

"His habits are As steady as
A sailor's beacon light;
Yet if you are Not watching him
He'll go right out at night."

"He's loads of friends,
There's not a house,
From nobleman to peasant,
Where he's not welcome.
For, my dears,
He's useful, strong and pleasant."

"I'll bet you I know what it is," whispered Old King Cole to Nick. "I knew the answer the minute she said his pipe stretched to the wall. There is only one person who has a pipe that's longer than mine and that is—"

"I know what it is," shouted the Baker Man. "I knew it the minute you said it it could bake a cake. It's a—"

"It's a stove!" said Nancy, who had gotten tired of so much talking.

"Right!" cried the Riddle Lady. "And the prize today is a party. Sit down everybody. The stove has everything ready except the ice cream."
